Total Capital of $10,000,000 Means That Working Fund of $100,000,000 Credit Is Available.

TEXASCORPORATION SWINGS INTO LINE

Action Already Taken Assures Success of Plan To Hold 25 Per Cent of Crop, Says Meyer.

Dallas, October 27.—(P)—With completion of plans for a Texas cotton finance corporation here today, six states are now organized with a total capital of $10,000,000, which means that a working fund of $100,000,000 of credit becomes immediately available through the federal intermediate credit banks and the United States Farm Loan board for the retiring of 4,000,000 bales of cotton.

This information was contained in a statement issued here today by Eugene Meyer, chairman of the president's cotton commission, after a conference with a committee of the Texas Bankers' association, at which plans for a $5,000,000 Texas corporation were completed. Mr. Meyer reached Dallas, Wednesday, accompanied by A. C. Williams, chairman of the Federal Farm Loan board. They are touring the south for similar conferences in other states, going from Dallas to Oklahoma City to meet bankers there tomorrow.

Meyer declares that the action taken in Texas, in his opinion, assures success of the plan whereby the storage of 25 per cent. of the south's 1926 crop, estimated to be the approximate surplus above this year's consumption requirements of American cotton, will be financed for such a time as may be needed to restore normal marketing conditions.

Texas leads with formation of a $5,000,000 corporation which forms the basis of $50,000,000 of credit, or half of the total for the south. North Carolina, South Carolina, Alabama, Georgia and a combination of Louisiana and southern Mississippi have formed corporations of $1,000,000 each, Meyer said.

The financing plan, as presented, makes possible borrowing money at a very low rate of interest from the intermediate credit bank and issuing $10 worth of credit for each $1 of actual capital stock subscribed to the corporation. This will make available through the Texas corporation $50,000,000 working fund for retiring of cotton for from 18 to 20 months or longer, on warehouse receipt security and proper indorsement subject to the immediate supervision of the Federal Farm Loan board.

PONZI FIGHTING TO DELAY RETURN TO MASSACHUSETTS

Houston, Texas, October 27.—(P)—After losing another legal bout in his fight against extradition to Massachusetts, Charles Ponzi, former Boston "financial wizard," declared in his cell here tonight that he hoped to delay his return to Boston until after a new set of officials take office January 1, next.

Ponzi admitted that he expects to be forced to return to Massachusetts eventually to face a prison term of from seven to nine years in connection with his swindles.

The Texas criminal court of appeals at Austin today denied Ponzi a writ of habeas corpus and ordered him remanded to the custody of Massachusetts authorities.

PRESIDENT TELLS OF GREAT BENEFIT OF ADVERTISING

Coolidge Makes Feature Address Before American Association of Advertising Agencies.

RADIO LISTENERS HEAR PRESIDENT

Coolidge Declares American People Have Lost Former Fear of Great Combinations of Wealth

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER. United News Staff Correspondent. Washington, October 27.—American people have ceased to fear great combinations of wealth and are learning to make these their servants, President Coolidge declared in an address to the American Association of Advertising Agencies in convention here.

Several million radio listeners heard the president through a nationwide hook-up. His only reference to political matters was a passing remark regarding indifference to public affairs. He spoke principally of the great benefit advertising has been to the industrial development of the country and the well-being of the citizenry. Advertising, he said, ministers to the spiritual side of trade. Advertising, rather than competition, is the life of trade now, he thought.

"Wages are high while profits have been moderate," the president said.

Homes Are Profiting. "That means that results of prosperity are going more and more into homes of the land and less into enrichment of the few, more and more to the men and women and less to the capital which is engaged in our economic life. If this were not so, this country could not support 20,000,000 automobiles, purchase so many radios, and install so many telephones.

"From a recent fear of being exploited by large aggregations of wealth, the people of America are learning to make such great combinations their faithful servants. This problem is gradually being taught, that the only method of permanent success lies in faithful, conscientious service to the public.

"You are familiar with the efforts which the federal government has been making to contribute to peace and prosperity during the recent reconstruction period.

Part of Advertising. "In making this economically possible, in spreading its benefits, in carrying its fruits into the homes of the land, advertising has supplied and will continue to supply a very important part. Without the advantages that accrue from that art these accomplishments would not have been possible.

The president said that with the present system of banking and the enormous capacity for consumption, fluctuations would be less violent and unlikely to sink to the level of depression.

"Our chief warrant for faith in the future of America lies in the character of the American people," he continued. "The future of our country is not to be determined by material resources, but by spiritual life of the people.

"So long as our economic activities can be maintained on the standard of competition in service, we are safe. If they ever degenerate into a mere selfish scramble for rewards, we are lost."

Aerological Observers Seek Weather Data

First observations of the new aerological department of the local United States weather bureau are being taken in the above photograph, which shows Assistant Observer Ralph Higgs following the flight of a balloon in order to determine the general drift of air currents over Atlanta and vicinity.

Assistant Observer Higgs is shown at the powerful telescope by which the flight of the balloon is followed, while at his left taking down the observations as Mr. Higgs calls them.

Interested in the proceedings and shown at the left of the picture is Atlanta's weather observer, C. F. von Herrmann, who is in charge of the local bureau.

Mr. Higgs, who is a newcomer to Atlanta from Key West, is shown in the insert.

Figures and data supplied by the local aerological station are compared with similar material supplied by other stations over the country, and information of great value to commercial air routes and to weather forecasters is thus obtained.

Establishment of a forum for discussion of public questions with the hope that it would become a means by which law making bodies of this part of the country might ascertain the unbiased and impartial views of intelligent people was urged Wednesday afternoon by Curtis M. Dozier, of Richmond, Va., vice president of the Southern States Republican league, at the afternoon session of the league at the Biltmore hotel.

The annual convention of the Southern States Republican league got under way Wednesday morning with a brilliant array of speakers of national reputation scheduled to deliver addresses on questions of intense interest. The convention will last through today.

Mr. Dozier deplored enactment of a multitude of "so-called moral laws" which have been fostered upon man by irresponsible minorities, and which are unrepresentative of the will of the people, but are kept in ascendency to serve selfish interests or are sustained by a misconception of public duty.

"Many of these laws," Mr. Dozier declared, "have caused us to seek the statute books for moral guidance instead of subscribing to the Ten Commandments."

Red Propaganda Spreads. Dangers attendant upon the spread of red propaganda were cited in an address by Harold Lord Varney, of St. Louis, Mo., who declared that soviet agents have spread their doctrines to every community and industrial center in the country.

"Why, I even meet evidences of communistic activities in the south, which heretofore has been free from the influence of Russia," Mr. Varney said. Speaking of "the secret, insidious ways by which the agents of communism spread the beliefs of the organization," he said that they generally use non-communist names for their work, and that the real danger is hidden.

S. Hahn Informs Court He Has Evidence To Prove Evangelist Knows His Whereabouts

Los Angeles, October 27.—(P)—S. Hahn, attorney for Leva Wiseman-Sieff, state's witness in the Aimee Semple McPherson hearing, told the court today he has evidence proving that the evangelist knows the whereabouts of Kenneth G. Ormiston, fugitive defendant charged jointly with Mrs. McPherson and Hahn, after informing Judge Samuel R. Blake he would have Robert Wiseman, 10, son of Mrs. Wiseman-Sieff, in court tomorrow as a defense witness, exchanged several side remarks with W. I. Gilbert, chief of Mrs. McPherson's counsel, which ended with his assertion regarding Ormiston.

Hahn, supplementing his court remarks, later issued this statement: "I have evidence in my possession proving that Aimee McPherson knows now where Kenneth Ormiston is. The evidence also shows that Mrs. McPherson knew where Mr. Ormiston was during the very time she appealed over the radio that Ormiston return to Los Angeles."

"I also have evidence to show that there was a meeting between Ormiston and Mrs. McPherson which meant that when she announced over the radio for Ormiston to come back it meant for Ormiston to stay away."

Mrs. Elizabeth Frame, of Santa Monica, close friend to the evangelist, resumed the stand while Gilbert questioned her apparently with a view to showing Mrs. Wiseman engaged in the so-called Carmel hoax without the assistance of the pastor.

Mrs. Wiseman charged that she was employed by Mrs. McPherson to produce a woman to pose as Ormiston's companion at a Carmel, Cal., cottage last May to refute rumors that the evangelist was the cottage woman.

Mrs. Frame testified to sending Mrs. Wiseman $50, which she obtained from Mrs. Kennedy, when Mrs. Wiseman telephoned from San Francisco that she had a broken rib.

Police Board Draws Blank At 'Sleuthing'

Committeemen Elicit Zero In Information In Interview With Mary Scott.

Mrs. Mary Scott, alleged accomplice in the $30,000 Indianapolis bank robbery, is no respecter of persons or dignitaries. And in the role of detectives, members of the police board are dismal failures.

Both these assertions were borne out Wednesday night when the board turned detective and attempted to get the "inside" on the robbery in an interview with Mrs. Scott.

Led by Alderman William B. Hartsfield, head of the board and pilot of the destinies of the department, the board visited Mrs. Scott in her cell at the matron's ward and elicited "valuable information" in an informal interview.

The prisoner was engaged in embroidering a yellow handkerchief when the board entered the cell. Mrs. Scott, who had her only act to lower her head and bit, thus preventing a view of her face.

"Seems you are in a bit of trouble," Hartsfield began.

"No, just a little difficulty," was the reply as she faced the police board chairman.

"But your quarters seem close," referring to the small cell in which she was confined.

FORUM TO DISCUSS PUBLIC QUESTIONS URGED BY SPEAKER

Dozier, Virginia G. O. P. Leader, Advocates Institution as Means of Ascertaining Opinion of People.

New Brunswick, N. J., October 27. The grave of Mrs. Eleanor Mills, one of the victims in the sensational murder mystery for which four prominent citizens of New Brunswick and vicinity will go on trial next week, has been opened.

A declaration by Special Prosecutor Simpson that he had positive information that Mrs. Mills' tongue had been cut out by the murderer heightened interest in an autopsy which will be performed on the eve of the trial.

Because of darkness the rough box inclosing the murdered woman's coffin was not removed from the open grave Wednesday night, and police stood guard at the little Mills family plot to prevent it being disturbed.

Hour to Reach Coffin. It took the gravediggers an hour to reach the coffin. The pine box of the rough box in which the slain choir singer had been buried were in a good state of preservation.

Special Policemen Morris Huston and Albert Hofer were placed on watch to guard against disturbances of the grave during the night by the morbidly curious.

After the grave had been opened, a report spread that the wrong grave had been opened. This was based on a statement that Danny Mills, son of the singer, pointed out to photographers another grave that of his mother's.

Charles Denton, who has been employed in the cemetery 16 years, emphatically denied the report. "I know Mrs. Mills' grave," he said. "It is the only one in the Mills family plot. There has been no mistake."

Dr. Otto Schultze, medical examiner, will perform an autopsy Thursday to determine the extent to which Mrs. Mills' body was mutilated. Physicians who performed the original autopsy on the former choir singer and Dr. Edward Wheeler Hall, who was slain with her beneath the crabapple tree on Phillips farm four years ago, declared that Mrs. Mills' throat had been slit but that she had not been mutilated otherwise.

Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, her brother, Henry and Willie, and her cousin, Henry Carpenter, are to go on trial Wednesday next.

"I have positive information that the murderers cut out Mrs. Mills' tongue," said Senator Simpson Wednesday.

The special prosecutor said he would make application, also, for permission to exhume the body of Dr. Hall, which lies in the Stevens' family plot in Greenwood cemetery, Brooklyn.

RAILROADS SHOW GAIN IN EARNINGS

Increase of 6 Per Cent Reported by 33 Big Carriers; Industrial Concerns Break Records.

New York, October 27.—(P)—Continuation of the unbroken prosperity which the great majority of the country's railroads has enjoyed in recent months is reflected in earnings reports for September thus far made public by 33 of about 185 class one carriers showing an increase of 6 per cent in aggregate net operating income compared with a year ago.

Similarly striking results are being shown by leading industrial companies, notably the United States Steel corporation and General Motors corporation. Earnings of General Motors for September were $1,000,000, an increase of 6 per cent over the same month last year.

One Billion Cyanite Deposit Reported in North Carolina

NEWSPAPER WOMAN IS PART OWNER

Burnsville, N. C., October 27.—(United News.)—J. A. Pollard, a former contracting well-digger who came to this town two years ago and investigated an unusual foundation in the mountains, claims to have discovered the world's largest deposit of cyanite two miles north of here.

If Pollard's claims are borne out, the deposit at present prices would be valued at approximately one billion dollars.

Pollard said that three mountains standing in plain view of Burnsville, according to geologists he consulted, contain more than 10,000,000 tons of cyanite—a rare metal of the aluminum silicates that because of its tremendous resistance to heat is used in making crucibles for the manufacture of steel and in the ceramic industry.

Heretofore the rareness of the metal and the difficulty of its extraction has made the price high. According to Pollard, a ton of pure cyanite is now quoted at about $100.

Pollard said he had interested Asheville capitalists in the deposit with the assistance of Edith Truitt, a newspaper woman and part owner, and that the purchase was completed Wednesday.

Since coming to Burnsville, Pollard has become president of the local chamber of commerce and his announcement threw the neighborhood into much excitement. People in every sort of vehicle are pouring into Burnsville and scrambling over the hillsides in the hope of staking out claims.

Prosecutors Says He Has Positive Evidence That Woman's Slaying Cut Out Her Tongue.

FARISH SEES NO END TO AUTO FUEL SUPPLY

Chicago, October 27.—(Special.)—Exhaustion of America's natural store of motor fuel was put beyond the realm of probabilities by W. S. Farish, president of the American Petroleum Institute, in a survey of the oil industry today before the third conference on education and industry at the University of Chicago.

Not only did he point out virtually unlimited sources of supply, but he predicted that new fuel economies and new motor efficiencies will compensate or even overbalance any increase in fuel cost.

Should the American supply of well oil become exhausted at some distant date, he said, the country already is assured of fuel similar to gasoline from raw materials such as oil shale and coal.

These reduction processes have now advanced to such a stage that Mr. Farish ventured the opinion that they will be put on a sound commercial basis as soon as gasoline prices advance materially from present levels.

Even with this vast supply in view, Mr. Farish said, there are current extravagances in the industry which are inexcusable.

To the very nature of the oil field, in its rush to find fortunes in newly discovered fields, akin to the gold rushers of earlier days, he charged some of the fault, but he directly blamed the petroleum laws and federal barriers against consolidations for much of the wastefulness. An intense and generally costly competition is shown as a result.

Failure of the laws to give title to oil until it has reached the surface, he pointed out, makes for feverish competition in a new field to catch as much as possible of the subterranean pool.

W.W. Sharp Dies Of Auto Injuries At Gotham Home

News of the death Wednesday morning of Willoughby W. Sharp, prominent New York business man and well-known in Atlanta where he was a frequent visitor, was received here Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Sharp's wife is the former Miss Dora Adams, of Atlanta.

Mr. Sharp, who was senior member of the stock exchange firm of Sharp & McVicker, succumbed early Wednesday to injuries sustained Tuesday night when struck down by an automobile in New York. He was about 58 years of age.

Mrs. Sharp, who resided with her husband in New York for the past 25 years, frequently visited her friends here. In 1888, as Miss Dora Adams, she married the late Alexander S. Hopkins, son of Judge John L. Hopkins and a brother to Lincoln C. Hopkins, prominent Atlanta attorney. Alex Hopkins died in 1890 and his widow continued to reside in Atlanta for several years with her father, Judge Hopkins, and her sister, Plourney, who is now Mrs. Gilchrist Elliott, of New York. She later married Mr. Sharp and moved to New York, where she has lived ever since.

Fire, Police Forces Called Political Dumping Ground

Deepening the alleged fact that the fire and police departments of the city government are made the political dumping grounds and that those elected to office pay their election debts by elevating their friends and supporters to positions on these departments, W. Guy Dobbs, chairman of the fire board, Wednesday declared he will immediately begin a move to prevent this in the future.

Mr. Dobbs made this statement at the regular October meeting of the fire board while that body was engaged in filling several vacancies existing on the force.

"We have made the fire and police departments the political dumping ground for the friends and supporters of those in office," Mr. Dobbs said, "I am going to vote for every man Chief Cody nominates and will not support any man he fails to recommend as the best man for the position."

This outburst followed an appeal of Chief W. B. Cody, of the fire department, to the board to give him good physical specimens of men in order that he might effectively fight fires.

The board elected E. P. Presley as chief of the signal system to succeed E. W. Walker, who has resigned his post and accepted a pension. W. L. Medlin was elected to take Mr. Presley's place as chief of the fire department.

Charles M. Ford and Ben T. Hulet insisted that the board select C. R. Lemmons to take Walker's post.

Ralph E. Hooks and Richard C. Endicott were named to the supernumerary list.

The board voted to accept fire station No. 20, which has just been completed at a cost of about $10,000. It is located in the tenth ward and was sponsored by Mr. Ford, alderman from the tenth.

The board will ask council Monday to approve a paper calling for the purchase of a new pump to be housed in the new station. Funds will be taken from next year's revenue to pay the cost of the new equipment.

The personnel of the new company will be selected at the November meeting of the fire board.

MEMBERSHIP DRIVE FOR 1927 PLANNED BY LEGION AT ROME

Rome, Ga., October 27.—(Special.)—Members of Shanklin-Attaway post, American Legion, at a meeting last night made plans for their 1927 membership campaign.

The post decided to review the first of the next year, accepted an invitation from St. Peter's Episcopal church to attend a service there and heard some inspiring talks by local and visiting members.

Former commander of the Georgia department, Howard Watkins, State Executive Committee member Eugene Taylor, State Adjutant Joe Carr, Roy Storey, Herbert McKenzie, Eddie Reese, and a number of others talked.

The post decided to turn its 1927 membership over to the "40 and 8" and a large number of 1927 cards were signed up last night.

Herbert McKenzie, general chairman of the fair committee, reported that all accounts had been paid and that a substantial profit had been made on the fair, which will be immediately paid on the purchase price of the grounds.

The legion's Armistice program will be in the hands of Roy Storey, who has a large committee appointed as aids.

$60,000 Is Asked By Mrs. A. D. Canup For Husband's Loss

A suit asking $60,000 for the death of her husband last August 6, was filed in Fulton superior court Wednesday by Mrs. A. D. Canup, through the law firm of Harwell, Fairman & Bart.

The petition was directed against the L. & N. and Atlantic Coast Line railroads as lessees of the Georgia Railroad and Banking company, and the Atlanta & West Point and L. & N. railroads as lessees of the Atlanta Belt Line.

It was charged that her husband was crossing the Fulton street bridge over the railroad tracks when he was struck by an engine, in charge of Engineer E. C. Reese, which resulted in his death. She charged that the engine was going at a speed in excess of that allowed by city ordinance.

Letters praising the police department for efficient enforcement of parking laws on downtown streets were received Wednesday by Councilman Harry York, chairman of the traffic committee, from the Automobile Dealers' association and the Atlanta Retail Merchants' association.

Rigid enforcement of parking laws and those traffic regulations allowing short-cut parking in business centers have relieved congestion on downtown streets and effected much convenience to merchants, it was stated.

SUPPORT OF THREE AMENDMENTS URGED

An appeal to voters of Georgia to support "three important amendments affecting the educational progress of Georgia," was made Wednesday in a statement issued by the Georgia Education association, which set out the three suggested amendments to the state constitution to be voted upon on November 2.

The first amendment, according to the statement, gives the governor permission to borrow $3,500,000 in order to pay the public school teachers promptly. It creates no debt, it is set out only pays the teachers of the schools their salaries when they are due.

"Another amendment," the statement continues, "permits Fulton county to levy an extra tax to run its schools for nine months. For years this tax has been levied in Fulton county. Recently the supreme court declared the levying of such a tax unconstitutional. Hence Fulton county is asking the state to give it permission to tax its own property an extra levy for its own schools."

"It costs no tax payer outside of Fulton county one penny, but before the tax can be collected the voters of Georgia must give their approval. Fulton county only asks that the voters legalize what the county commissioners have heretofore done."

The third amendment is in regard to the collecting of vital statistics in Georgia. The health of our children and the future welfare of our state are vitally concerned with the success of this amendment. Give it your indorsement and support. If Georgia is to become the great state she ought to be we must have a people sound of body in order that their sound minds may be correctly trained."

ELsie JANIS CONCERT INTEREST INCREASES

Few concert announcements for Atlanta have aroused so much advance interest as that of Elsie Janis and her own group of artists, who will appear at Wesley Memorial auditorium Thursday, November 4, those in charge said Wednesday.

The great popularity of Miss Janis, both among regular theatergoers and who know her as the greatest musical character singer and costume dancer on the modern musical comedy stage, and among the two million men who are coming to Atlanta from all parts of the country for their Business Training.

The management of the Southern felt flattered when Col. C. A. Greene, of Los Angeles, made the statement that he had "visited the leading Business Schools in the North, Central, Eastern and Western sections of the country, and had never found a school that is as safe, sane, sound and moral, coupled with the fact that it is efficient in its every phase and department, as the Southern Shorthand and Business University, of Atlanta."

But the management has since made a tour of leading Business Schools in much larger cities than Atlanta, and can no positively state to the young people of the South and the entire country that no school anywhere excels in equipment or curriculum that of the Southern Business College, and none recently visited by the management is comparable with it.

The Southern requests all interested in a Business Education to be sure to visit the various schools and use for themselves. Then, next, ask the prominent business men of Atlanta about the efficiency of the Southern's graduates. You'll then enroll at this old-established school.

Begin now. Call, phone or write to visit the various schools and use for themselves. Address L. W. Arnold, Pres., 56 Whitehall Street, Atlanta, Ga. Phone Walnut 8834.

Her assisting artists, also, are all famous in concert performance. Carolina Lazzari, contralto, has sung with the Metropolitan and Chicago opera companies; Robert Steel, American baritone, is a young singer just back from opera engagements in Europe where he created nothing short of a sensation; Lauri Kennedy, cellist, won lasting fame for his work as an assisting artist with John McCormack, and Dorothy Kennedy, pianist, was highly praised by both press and public for her work in recital at the Royal Albert Hall, in London.

Miss Janis will be greeted here by almost the entire local membership of the American Legion, who remember her from their days in France and many requests have already been received by the Southern Musical bureau, which brings the attraction here, for seat reservations.

Seat sale will begin November 2 at Phillips and Crow Piano company, Decatur and Ellis streets.

DEMOCRATIC BODY TO HEAR PETITION OF CITY ELECTION

The city democratic executive committee will consider the amended petition of Tom Morris, defeated candidate for reelection to council from the fifth ward, some time next week, according to a decision reached by the subcommittee Wednesday afternoon.

The subcommittee was called together to review the new petition, but action was deferred for a meeting of the entire committee—members of the subcommittee contending that the entire committee has heard the first contest of the election which Mr. Morris filed and, therefore, the entire committee should sit on the new petition.

Exact date of the hearing was not set because members of the subcommittee wished to have time to study recommendations which the Fulton county grand jury is expected to make in the case.

Grounds for the contest in the amended petition were that certain persons voted twice, that others voted who were not residents of the fifth ward, and that certain others who should have been duly registered and permitted to vote were prevented from casting their ballots.

Mr. Morris was defeated by a small margin by his opponent, J. W. Bowden, on the face of returns as published by election managers.

POLICE PRAISED FOR ENFORCEMENT OF PARKING LAWS

Letters praising the police department for efficient enforcement of parking laws on downtown streets were received Wednesday by Councilman Harry York, chairman of the traffic committee, from the Automobile Dealers' association and the Atlanta Retail Merchants' association.

50 Couples Seek To Be Wedded At Food Show

R. V. Bergen, who is confronted with a thousand tasks in preparation for the sixth annual food show that is to be staged for one week at the auditorium armory beginning next Monday, is up against a real snag, he said Wednesday.

It is the selection of a bride and groom for the real wedding that is to be offered as the feature event of the Tuesday night show. For no less than 50 couples have applied for this unusual entertainment feature. All worthy couples, all perfectly qualified to take the leading roles in this real life drama, Mr. Bergen said, and that is what makes the selection of just one couple so difficult.

But despite this the committee in charge of this event will make a selection in the near future and the stunt will be staged in all the splendor due with an occasion. The Food Dealers' orchestra will render the wedding march as the couple march to the auditorium stage where the minister will do the honors.

The names of the bridal pair as well as that of the minister of their choice will not be revealed until the day of the wedding, it was made known.

DURAND GIVEN THREE-YEAR TERM ON MANN ACT

John Durand Wednesday was sentenced to three years in the federal penitentiary by Judge Samuel H. Sibbey in United States district court when the defendant entered a plea of guilty to Mann white slave act charges. Federal officers alleged that Durand transported a woman from Alabama to Gwinnett county, Georgia, in violation of the white slave act.

Atlanta Has Best Equipped Business School In South—Southern Business College

The Popularity of the Southern Increases as Its Great Efficiency Becomes Known.

Do you know that Atlanta has the best-equipped Business Training School, and the most largely patronized, in the South?

Congratulations to our progressive and wide-awake city.

For the Southern Shorthand and Business University is truly entitled to this distinction, and this is the reason that young men and young women are coming to Atlanta from all parts of the country for their Business Training.

VOCATIONAL SCHOOLS TO GET ALLOTMENTS

Approximately 150 high school and vocational training schools in Georgia will this week receive their quarterly allotment of the federal vocational fund, checks amounting to $36,325.60 and drawn on this fund having been turned over to the state vocational board of education Wednesday by W. J. Speer, state treasurer.

A check for $45,690.65 was sent by the United States treasurer to Mr. Speer, custodian of the federal fund for Georgia, earlier in the week. This check represented the first quarterly payment of the federal vocational fund to the federal fiscal year ending June, 1927. It was pointed out by J. O. Anderson, assistant state treasurer. The state vocational education board's requisition, however, only called for $36,325.60 at this time, it was stated. The largest payment of the fund, $22,238.50, was drawn in favor of the Georgia State College of Agriculture, Mr. Anderson said.

The federal fund is matched in Georgia by state and local appropriations.

Fair and Warmer Again Predicted For Section Today

The weather man's prediction of fair and warmer weather which has been rudely disregarded by actual weather for the past few days, has been put forward again for today's weather.

The thermometer again will go high enough to make overcoats unnecessary and will not drop below 40 degrees, Mr. Von Herrmann said.

Although the lowest temperature Wednesday morning was 36 degrees, no frost was found on Atlanta's house tops, due to a heavy fog. Frost was reported in Macon and light frosts were reported as far south as Thomasville. The highest temperature recorded Wednesday was 50 degrees.

Fair weather will predominate throughout the state today, Mr. Von Herrmann said, and will be accompanied by rising temperatures. The thermometer should register 65 degrees for the high mark, he said.

STEPHENSON FILES NEW TRIAL APPEAL

Indianapolis, October 27.—The Indiana political scandal was rekindled to full heat Wednesday with three new developments:

1. Democratic leaders, including Tom Taggart, former United States senator; Charles Greenhouse, now national committeeman; State Chairman R. Earl Peters, and Boyd Gurley, editor of the Indianapolis Times, were called before the Marion county grand jury for questioning.
2. Former Klan Dragon D. C. Stephenson, whose influence in politics brought the alleged corruption now being investigated, filed an appeal for release from prison.
3. William Armistage, republican political boss during the last city administration, was brought before the grand jury and forced to testify despite previous refusals.

Stephenson's appeal, filed with Indiana supreme court today, is regarded as significant. Thomas Adams, the editor who tilted the lid of the scandal claimed that Stephenson was willing to tell the whole story of Klan dominance but that he was being kept muzzled in the state prison where he is serving life sentence for the murder of an Indiana girl whom he attacked.

Taggart was before the jury about a half hour.

"I told them all I knew," he declared on leaving.

Taggart and Greenhouse were believed to have been questioned regarding a reported offer they had received from former Klan officials to sell the democrats certain documents which would reveal the political activities of Stephenson and the G. O. P.

Armistage, believed to have full knowledge of alleged corruption in city offices, refused to testify until Prosecutor W. H. Remy took him before Judge Collins and had him threatened with contempt proceedings unless he answered the questions of the grand jury.

SCHOOL CAFETERIA WILL OPEN FRIDAY IN INMAN PARK

Formal opening of the cafeteria which has been donated to the Inman Park school by the Junior Red Cross, will be held at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon at the school. Eloise Hutchinson, president of the high school council, will give a short address of greeting and Agnew Corker, a Red Cross representative from Tech High school, will tell how the work of building and equipping the cafeteria was done.

Work of building the cafeteria was done by Tech High school boys and much of the equipment was furnished by local hotels and Agnes Scott college. The Junior Red Cross has contemplated the work for some time and after many weeks work succeeded in completing the cafeteria. This organization will continue to sponsor the work.

JAYCEES TO HEAR ABOUT CHEST DRIVE

Nearly 100 junior chamber members are actively working this week in the Chest drive, but arrangements have been made for the weekly luncheon to be held as usual at the Chamber of Commerce building.

C. F. Dieter is chairman of the meeting and announces that dancers from the Kel-Jo studio of dancing will entertain featuring new dances by Miss Hazel Jones and Miss Janet Kelly.

PRESBYTERIAN MEN WILL MEET TONIGHT

The men of the Pryor Street Presbyterian church will hold their regular monthly meeting tonight at the church. The subject for the meeting is "Home Missions" and the Rev. J. R. Williams, of the East Point Presbyterian church, will make the principal address. This week the Men of the Church organization is composed of all of the church. Refreshments are in charge of O. J. Parker, assistant to Fire Chief Coby, and a delightful surprise awaits those who attend, he states. R. O. Barnett is president and Radford Smith is secretary.

Salvation Army Has Work For Many Unfortunates

Hopelessly paralyzed but with the spark of self-respect still glowing, this man "earns his way" at one of the many light jobs open for the asking at the Salvation Army, which, with 34 other relief and service agencies, is seeking support for another year in the Atlanta Community Chest campaign this week.

"Beggars in Atlanta are on the streets from personal preference and not from necessity," the complaints and appeals committee of the Atlanta Community Chest was informed Wednesday in a special report on the beggar situation filed by Major Bertram C. Rhodda, head of the Salvation Army work here.

The report was made in response to requests by workers in the Atlanta Community Chest campaign who reported that some prospective beggars on the streets and in the Community Chest for not taking care of them.

"The Salvation Army has work that the lame, the halt and the blind can do to support themselves in comfort and self-respect even if not in luxury," Major Rhodda told the committee. "It has offered this work to any one who asked for it during the entire period that it has been dependent upon gifts through the Community Chest for its support. Hundreds of hopeless cripples who were too proud to beg have taken advantage of the chance we give them to earn their own way at tasks they are able to perform."

Jobs Are Offered.

"We have offered jobs, each suited to the special disability in each case, to no less than 40 of the beggars who are now asking personal charity on the streets and each has preferred to continue in his own 'business' rather than to earn his way at some useful task," the major told the chest committee.

Two men who are hopelessly paralyzed are earning their way at the Salvation Army Industrial Home now, one who has been several years working as a telephone operator, a trade he was taught at the home. Another, a welder, is sorting the thousands of old shoes collected by the Army wagons, some of which are good enough to be repaired and sold as boots and others which will be torn up and sold as old paper.

Another man, convalescing from a recent illness, is assigned to air the pillows and bedding for the 150 nightly guests of the home. As he grows stronger, heavier work will be given him.

ART BODY POSTPONES DECISION ON PAINTINGS

Decision on the recommended purchase of three paintings for the prominent Atlanta collection was postponed Wednesday by the board of the Atlanta Art association when lack of a quorum prevented action, it was stated Wednesday night.

The three paintings which it is proposed to buy have been recommended by the art committee of the association, which consists of J. J. Haverly, Frank Lowenstein and Hunt Chipley.

The paintings are included in the magnificent collection of the Grand Central Art Galleries of New York now showing at the new High museum of art on Peachtree street at Fifteenth street.

A two weeks' showing of the New York art galleries collection, which opened on October 17, will come to a close at the end of this week.

Attendance at the museum has been a steady improvement throughout, and the crowds who viewed the 300 paintings and sculptures on Wednesday were much larger than on any previous day.

A small admission is charged to view the exhibits, adults being charged 35 cents and children 25 cents each.

How to Get Rid of Colds and Catarrh

A Simple, Safe, Inexpensive Method That Clears Out the Head, Nose and Throat.

There are many people suffering from chronic catarrh who would like to know how they can stop catching cold after cold. They realize that sooner or later this may lead to deafness and other serious troubles.

Dr. Blosser, for years a specialist in catarrh, was the discoverer of a pleasant, direct method that can be used by women and children as well as men. His remedy is made from medicinal herbs, flowers and berries which you smoke in a small pipe or cigarette, and inhale the vapor into the air passages of the head, nose, throat and lungs, carrying medicine where sprays, douches and salves cannot possibly reach. It contains no cubes, tobacco or habit-forming drugs.

Dr. Blosser's Remedy is effective in all forms of colds, catarrh, catarrhal headaches and ear troubles that may lead to deafness. You will breathe better and feel better after using it.

If you suffer from catarrh, catarrhal deafness, asthma, hay fever, bronchial irritations, or, if subject to frequent colds, you should try Dr. Blosser's Remedy. Get one of the pocket size packages from any drug store and prove for yourself the pleasant, beneficial effects.—(adv.)

Vital Statistics Help

A uniform practice in keeping official records of births, marriages and deaths—called Vital Statistics—is important to all citizens of a State. Without such "Birth and Death Bookkeeping" proper certificates cannot be obtained, and the lack is often a very serious matter.

To Get People their Rights

A birth certificate is frequently needed to prove a child's age in connection with schooling or working papers; or to establish the right to inherit property. A death certificate is indispensable in settling insurance or pension claims, and is often necessary evidence in settling estates and in other important matters.

to Promote Community Welfare

Complete and accurate recording of the dates and causes of all deaths helps to prevent disease and thus promote good health and lengthen life. Such a record enables a community to compare its own condition of health with that of other places, so that it may improve its situation and avoid troubles which have threatened neighboring towns. It guides industry in selecting healthful locations for factories and shops, and helps home-seekers choose safe places to live.

No community should permit a human life to be begun unrecorded or to end without official registration of when and why.

M'CORMACK GUEST OF ATLANTA CLUB

Charles A. McCormack, president of the Chicopee Manufacturing company, of New Brunswick, N. J., was guest of honor Wednesday night at a dinner at the Capital City club.

The dinner was attended by state officials, a number of prominent Atlantans and officials of the Gainesville Chamber of Commerce, who will escort Mr. McCormack to Gainesville this afternoon where he will be given a complimentary banquet by the Gainesville Chamber of Commerce.

Details of the plant his company will erect at Gainesville, which will require the expenditure of several million dollars in Georgia by the company, which now operates at New Brunswick, N. J., as Johnson & Johnson, manufacturers of gauze bandages, will be given out at the banquet. Georgia's abundance of cheap and satisfactory labor and raw material, climatic conditions, transportation facilities, hydroelectric energy and other resources are slated to be discussed by the speaker at the Gainesville banquet.

marine and a navy able to support it. Admiral McGowan explained.

As another feature of the Navy day exercises, Admiral McGowan spoke over WSB on "The Country's Need for an Adequate Merchant Marine and the Relation Between the Merchant Marine and the Navy."

The dinner given in his honor at the Ansley hotel was arranged by officers of the Georgia Tech naval unit, officers of the naval recruiting station here and officers of the naval reserve, who acted as hosts.

Other features on Wednesday's program included arrival of two navy ships, from the Pensacola aviation station to take part in demonstrations at Candler field, where the inspection of the planes took place. Upon special dispensation of Secretary of Navy Wilbur, a number of prominent Atlanta citizens were allowed to ride over the city in naval planes.

ROOSEVELT PAID HIGH TRIBUTE.

New York, October 27.—(AP)—The memory of Theodore Roosevelt was honored throughout the nation today, the 68th anniversary of his birth and officially designated by the government as Navy day.

Ships at coastal towns were thrown open to public inspection, ceremonies were held to show reverence to the name of the former president, special radio programs carried intimate stories of his private and public life by friends and relatives, and banquets were held by associations formed in his honor.

Among the activities in New York was a banquet at Roosevelt house, where "Teddy" was born, at which Roosevelt medals were awarded to Rear Admiral William S. Sims, retired, former United States Senator Albert J. Beveridge, and Dan Beard, national commissioner of the Boy Scouts.

TIMES CHANGED, SAYS WHITE.

Emporia, Kan., October 27.—(AP)—If Theodore Roosevelt could be let down from the battlements of Heaven in a parachute and would begin to say the things he said 20 years ago, he would "shock, astound and paralyze" the American people, William Allen White, editor and author, declared here today.

Speaking to the students of the College of Emporia in the course of the college's observance of Theodore Roosevelt's birthday, Mr. White deplored the modern trend toward conservatism.

"What if, suddenly, from the white house today, the phrase 'predatory wealth' came crashing out?" Mr. White demanded. "Remember that Theodore Roosevelt attacked decisions of the supreme court. Remember that he demanded the recall of judicial decisions by popular vote. Remember that he stood for the initiative and referendum; the primary; the eight-hour day; child labor laws; workmen's compensation, and had no word to say against the closed shop.

"Why, if Theodore Roosevelt should appear suddenly in America today saying and doing what he did from 1904 to 1912 the various defense societies, security leagues, minute men of the republic, and 100 per cent Americans would start a whispering campaign that his real name was Fodor Roosevelt, and that he was sent here as an agent of the bolsheviks.

"So greatly have times changed. So far has the mind of America turned around the corner from the liberalism of the first decade of this century to the conservatism of today!

"Roosevelt will live in our history, not as a great president, but as a great agitator like Isiah and Elijah. He stood in the courts of democracy and thundered the truth about its corruption of King Demos into its teeth."

STRENGTHENING OF NAVY IS URGED BY ROBINSON.

Philadelphia, October 27.—(AP)—Urging the strengthening of the American navy as a protection against future wars, Theodore Douglas Robinson, assistant secretary of the navy, in an address here today asserted that any country "which is not willing to pay premiums for 100 per cent security, is not willing to pay in the best blood of its citizenry."

Mr. Robinson was a speaker at the Penn Athletic club at exercises in observance of "Navy day."

Rose water was exported from Persia as far as China by the ninth century.

CLOUDS INTERFERE IN OBSERVING MARS

London, October 28.—(Thurs.)—Clouds interfered with London scientific observations of the planet Mars and made the task more difficult than had been hoped.

Despite handicaps, however, the dark areas of supposed vegetation and part of the northern snow cap could be distinguished.

Lesser markings such as "the lake of the sun" and "cerberus" were indistinct.

night, chasing these two moons about the planet with the glass. For a long while, the Naval Observatory's telescope was the largest in the country, but now there are several more powerful.

Speculation about receiving radio messages from Mars was dismissed as "hardly worth while" here today by W. D. Terrell, chief of the radio division of the department of commerce.

"I would like to know what wave length they are using," he said with a laugh.

"If Mars is inhabited, the people might have developed radio sets, and if they had radio apparatus, they might have developed it where they could reach the earth. But they would know nothing of our language and we would know nothing of theirs, so how could they communicate with us so that we would recognize their signals?"

The possibility of radio signals from Mars was suggested two years ago, when listeners in the United States heard signals which could not be traced to any known station.

Chicago, October 27.—Like an inquisitive neighbor prevented from spying on the party going out by steam on the windows of her own house, the planet earth is not finding out very much about the planet Mars.

Mars and earth are now only 42,000,000 miles apart. They won't be so close again until 1939 and astronomers everywhere are training their eyes on the planet.

Thus far, according to reports gathered here, nothing new has been discovered. The planet is a reddish brown color, and is surrounded by a thin atmosphere, "that we should indulge in wild speculation over things we know so little about. But if Mars is peopled the race must be a peculiar one, thin skinned enough to stand temperatures ranging from below freezing at midnight to 200 degrees Fahrenheit at noon."

GREAT CHANGES SEEN IN MARS, SAYS SCHAEER.

London, October 27.—The Geneva correspondent of the Daily Express has sent the following message from Professor Schaeer, famous Swiss astronomer who is now in the Jungfraujoch observatory in the Alps:

"I find that Mars now presents great changes in comparison to those shown in 1924. The planet now presents a very luminous pale yellow disc with equatorial continents prominently dark brown in color, while the polar cap, which was very small in July and August, has nearly disappeared."

SCIENTISTS ATTEMPT TO PHOTOGRAPH MARS.

San Jose, Cal., October 27.—Hoping to fathom details of atmospheric and surface conditions on Mars, scientists at Lick Observatory, on Mount Hamilton, were attempting to photograph the planet tonight through a 36-inch reflecting telescope.

Dr. Robert G. Aikin, associate director of the observatory, said that it would be about two months before results of the tests could be made known.

Plates sensitive to color were used so that information regarding changes from previous formation and colorings could be obtained. This was looked upon as important because of the belief that changes might be due to vegetation, presence of which would lead to the supposition that some form of animal life existed there.

Rivalry Increases.

The spirited contest in progress between the Georgia Railway and Power company team and the Southern Bell team in the industrial employee division, marked by the gift of $7,500 from the power company as a corporation, sent the utility employee division scoring far ahead of all other divisions in the percentage of quota raised up to the time of the Wednesday report meeting. The division's report, made through Allison T. Moore, chairman, was $11,801 from 257 givers for the day, a total of $25,004 from 1,642 givers up to date, or 67 per cent of the $35,000 quota.

The special gifts committee, soliciting the individuals and business concerns considered able to give $1,000 or more, made the second best showing on percentage of quota, reporting

$10,750 in seven new subscriptions for the day, or a total of $31,750 from 16 givers, 45 per cent of its $70,000 quota, for the campaign up to Wednesday's report.

The individual subscribers' division, headed by George West and which is bearing the brunt of the campaign for actual money, reported 1,305 new subscriptions amounting to $42,998 for the day, or a total of $144,023, from 3,405 subscribers up to date, making 40 per cent of its $361,000 quota.

The public employee division, headed by Joseph T. Rose, pressed the individual division closely on percentage of quota, reporting $1,884 subscribed for the day from 258 city, county, state and federal employees, making a total of $3,882 from 446 givers, or 49 per cent of its quota of $10,000.

The commercial employee division, through Frank Neely, chairman, reported 279 new gifts amounting to $2,349 for the day, a total of $5,000 from 662 givers or 33 per cent of its quota of $15,000, to be raised among employees of commercial houses employing 10 or more persons.

The industrial employee division again trailed the list with $1,220 reported from 122 new subscribers, making a total of $2,512 from 615 employees in industrial plants employing 30 or more persons. Its quota is $15,000. Mrs. Peabody is 92 years of age, explained that his co-workers were waiting until Saturday, pay day in most plants where funds are withheld, to make their heaviest drive.

No report was made by the negro division, its total standing at $935 from 29 givers reported Monday.

Six thousand six hundred and five subscriptions have been reported to date as compared to 16,000 in last year's campaign and 28,000 in 1924. The luncheon was Mrs. Francis Peabody, from the Home for Old Women, a chest agency, who played on the accordion. Mrs. Peabody is 92 years of age, the widow of a minister who was a traveling evangelist before the war, and in the old days furnished the music for his meetings.

Captain R. L. Foreman, Jr., in reporting for his team, mentioned the gift of little Oliver Coburn, of 150 South Street, an 8-year-old boy who gave $1 in cash out of his earnings in selling magazines.

The firm of Ivan Allen-Marshall was the first to be reported as having given 100 per cent from all employees, a total of $1,006 having been subscribed.

Gross revenues of the Baltimore & Ohio were more than $1,000,000 larger and net operating income gained about $905,000. ## BOTH PARTIES CLAIM VICTORY IN KENTUCKY

Louisville, October 27.—(AP)—Declaring reports from every section of Kentucky indicated their respective candidates for the United States senate were gaining new friends daily, Robert P. Green, director of the republican campaign and Congressman Fred M. Vinson, democratic campaign manager, today forecast victory for their nominee at the polls next Tuesday.

A majority of 25,000 for Senator Richard P. Ernst was predicted by Mr. Green, who said more voters daily were rallying to the senior senator of Kentucky in his campaign for reelection.

Mr. Vinson declined to estimate the majority by which he expects Congressman Allen W. Barkley, democratic nominee, to carry the state, but said it would be unprecedented. He termed the cancellation by Senator Ernst of his remaining speaking engagements as "virtual admission of defeat."

COOLIDGE STRESSES ADVERTISING VALUE

lost. Our economic well-being depends on our integrity, our honor, our conscience. It is through these qualities that your profession makes its special appeal. Advertising ministers to the spiritual side of trade. It is a great power that has been entrusted to your keeping which charges you with the high responsibility of inspiring and ennobling the commercial world. It is all part of the greater work of the regeneration and redemption of mankind."

Americans indifferent.

Americans, the president said, are inclined too much toward indifference. "Sometimes it seems as though our generation fails to give the proper estimate and importance to the values of life," he said. "Results appear to be secured so easily that we look upon them with indifference. We take too many things as a matter of course, when, in fact, they have been obtained for us only as the result of ages of effort and sacrifice. We look at our economic condition upon which we are absolutely dependent for the comforts and even the necessities of life, and forgetting that it all rests upon industry, thrift and management, dismiss it lightly as a matter that does not concern us. Occasionally our attention is directed to our political institutions, which have been secured for us through the disinterested exertion of generations of patriotism, and, going along oblivious to the fact that they are the sole guarantees of our rights to life and liberty, we turn away with the comforting thought that we can let some party committee attend to getting out the vote and that probably the government will run itself all right anyway. Then, perhaps, we are attracted by the buildings erected for education, or the temples dedicated to religious worship, and without stopping to realize that these are the main sources of the culture of society and the moral and spiritual life of the people we pass them by as the concern very largely of schoolmasters and clergymen. We have become so accustomed to the character of our whole, vast and intricate system of existence that we do not ordinarily realize its enormous importance.

"It seems to me probable that of all our economic life the element on which we are inclined to place too low an estimate is advertising.

"When we stop to consider the part which advertising plays in the modern life of production and trade we see that basically it is that of education. It informs its readers of the existence and nature of commodities by explaining the advantages to be derived from their use and creates for them a wider demand.

"It makes new thoughts, new desires, and new actions. By changing the attitude of mind it changes the material condition of the people. Advertising creates and changes the foundation of all popular action, public sentiment or public opinion. It is the most potent influence in adopting and changing the habits and modes of life, affecting what we eat, what we wear and the work and play of the whole nation. Formerly it was an axiom that competition was the life of trade. Under the methods of the present day it would seem to be more appropriate to say that advertising is the life of trade.

"It is to be seen that advertising is the attitude of mind. It ministers to the true development of trade. It is no doubt possible to waste money through wrong methods of advertising, as it can be wasted through wrong methods in any department of industry. But rightly applied, it is the method by which the desire is created for better things. When that desire exists, new ambition is developed for the creation and use of wealth."

Famous Old Recipe for Cough Syrup

Easily and cheaply made at home, but it beats them all for quick results.

Thousands of housewives have found how to save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, by using this well-known old recipe for making cough syrup. It is simple and cheap but it has no equal for results. It gives immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from your druggist, pour it into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. If you prefer, use clarified honey, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a family a long time.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs—loosens and removes the phlegm, soothes and heals the membranes, and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and dread cough disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, hoarseness or bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract and palatable quinine, known the world over for its healing effect on membranes.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Reports Feature Session Of Confederate Daughters

BY MRS. J. J. HARRIS,
Constitution U. D. C. Editor.
Statesboro, Ga., October 27.—(Special.)—The first day's business session of the thirty-second annual convention of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, meeting here, was full of interest. The invocation was by Mrs. John A. Perdue, of Atlanta, which was followed by a piano solo by Mrs. Waldo Floyd.

A feature of the morning session was the motion of Mrs. Walter Lamar that the president, Mrs. Oscar McKenzie, represent the Georgia division at the unveiling of the memorial to Alexander H. Stephens in the hall of fame in Washington.

Minutes of the evening session were read and the rules of order were read by Mrs. Walter Lamar and other rules were read by Mrs. A. B. Hall, of Savannah. The report of the program committee was made by Mrs. Julian Lane, of Statesboro, which was applauded.

Telegrams of condolence were sent to Mrs. W. C. Vereen, of Moultrie, and Mrs. E. D. Denmark, of Waycross. A wire was also sent to Miss Mildred Rutherford, at Athens, expressing the convention's regret at her absence.

Mrs. C. D. Shellnut, chairman on credentials, reported that 140 delegates were present at the opening session of the convention. Telegrams were read from Mrs. T. T. Stevens, Mrs. Jackson Brand, Miss Margaret Bickstaff, state president of C. of C.; Mrs. Harvey Richards, Mrs. R. P. Brooks, Mrs. W. P. Bailey, state president of Georgia Federation of Music Clubs, and from Andrew J. McBride, chairman.

An interesting ceremony, and one filled with historic interest, was the flag ceremony, that of presenting the flags by chapter presidents to the custodian of flags. This was one of the most interesting features of the convention. Mrs. Walter Grace, of Macon, was inducted for secretary-general at the forenoon session, which was followed by adjournment for luncheon at the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Donohoo. ### Cotton Firm Offers To Lend Planters Twice Amount Owed

Making an announcement to the effect that it will lend any farmer twice as much money as he owes the firm, on a basis of 10 cents for middling cotton, or better, with no further marginal requirements, at the rate of 5 per cent interest, the Virginia-Carolina Chemical corporation has issued the following statement:

"Realizing the disastrous results to farmers who are forced to sell their cotton after the severe break in price, the Virginia-Carolina Chemical corporation offers to lend 10 cents per pound on middling cotton, or higher grades, to their customers to enable them to meet their obligations as they fall due. Their cotton will be carried to May 1, 1927, at the extremely low interest charge of 5 per cent per annum, thereby giving them opportunity to get the benefit of any advance in price between now and next spring.

"This is the result of a genuine desire on the part of the Virginia-Carolina Chemical corporation to assist their customers in the marketing of the crop, and they have adopted this policy, believing it to be of paramount importance to the cotton farmers to withhold at least a part of the crop from the market in an effort to stabilize the price to the end that the farmer will realize more nearly the cost of production for this year's labor."

LANCE HABEAS CORPUS HEARING SET TODAY

Hearing on the writ of habeas corpus, brought Tuesday by Eugene Dickey, attorney for Jack Lance, now in Fulton tower and charged with the murder of Bert Donaldson, criminal investigator, is scheduled this morning before Judge John D. Humphries in Fulton superior court.

The petition sets out that Lance has been held in the tower since August 20, without bail. It submitted to arrest, the petition avers, because Lance and Donaldson were close friends, and he thought his arrest might help the solicitor in the investigation. Lance sets out that he was given assurance that after being questioned he would be released and that he had been denied his freedom.

Lance is under indictment on a statutory charge in connection with his association with Nell Oberlin, who is being held in Fulton lower in connection with the death of Mrs. E. I. Kirk, who was struck and killed by a "hit and run" motorist on North Boulevard.

The state either will have to show its hand and produce evidence against Lance, if it has any, in connection with the Donaldson murder case, or his detention can be accomplished by calling a special session of the grand jury and have the plaintiff in the habeas indicted, if such evidence is presented, for murder, it is pointed out.

OUR MERCHANT MARINE

Admiral Benson and John Nicholson, of the United States shipping board, will hold a public hearing at the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce today to ascertain the sentiment of the people in this section on the issue of private or government owned shipping lines.

There is no doubt as to public opinion on this question, not only in the south but in the entire country.

Government ownership of public utilities is not popular and never will be. The proposal came out of the west several years ago with a great many other wild and visionary political schemes, but the people did not endorse the idea, and as the years passed, and circumstances forced some most unpleasant experiences, they have gotten further away than ever from the government ownership proposition.

During the war it was necessary for the government to take over and operate the railroads, and also the shipping lines, most of the American-owned trans-oceanic bottoms being converted into transports. It was not understood that the government would operate the railroads to a profit, although paid freight and passenger traffic not only reached a new peak, but both freight and passenger tariffs were made higher than ever before. And yet the burden of that operation was so heavy that even the children of today will not be immune from federal taxation to make up the deficit.

When the roads were turned back to their private owners two years after the armistice it was necessary to subsidize the same in order to properly rehabilitate them. This called not only for the transportation act of 1921, but for the Pullman sur-charge of 50 per cent of the regular fare, this sum amounting to around $40,000,000 a year going to the railroads even today, although a war emergency measure that has long since served its purpose.

The government operation of the merchant marine has been a distressing failure, and has been and is today, imposing an enormous burden upon the federal taxpayers. Not only that, but it has lowered America's once proud position on the seas, and has degenerated into a most lamentable farce.

It is not the fault of the shipping board, although there has been entirely too much politics in the organization, and a serious lack of coordination between the board and the Emergency Fleet corporation. It has been—and is—the fault of the system. Federal operation of a merchant marine can never be successful in this country. Our form of government does not admit of it. Our citizens, schooled in the idea of commercial independence, rebel at the thought.

Admiral Benson and Mr. Nicholson and other members of their party will be cordially greeted. For the admirals especially, whom Georgians have a right to claim as their own, there is a warm spot in the heart of every citizen.

SATISFYING DECISION.

That Chief Justice Taft in the supreme court decision upholding the president's constitutional right to remove federal officials who had been confirmed by the senate, without the removal consent of the senate, interprets administrative authority wisely there can be no doubt, although the question has been one of legal dispute for half a century. It is unthinkable that this government should find itself in the embarrassing predicament of not being able to get rid of a federal official proven unfit, by temperament, qualification or otherwise to serve efficiently. It would place us in a worse condition than a dynasty, and would invite perpetuation in office of unworthy officials, and by the same token encourage both spoils and corruption. The executive who appoints should have the authority to remove without recourse. And under the supreme court decision he fortunately has that authority.

WIDENING LUCKIE ST.

The movement of the Luckie Street Improvement club to widen that street is timely. A meeting of residents and property owners has been called for Payne Memorial church Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock at which time steps will be taken to make formal presentation of the matter both to the city council and to the board of county commissioners.

The importance of this development is such as to make forcible appeal to both city and county.

With the early completion of the North Side Drive bridge over Peachtree creek, the longest avenue in the county will be opened to the heart of Atlanta through Hemphill avenue and Luckie street. With the exception of a few blocks on Luckie street, the entire length of this great highway from the river to North avenue is of spacious width.

From North avenue for only a few blocks toward the center of the city Luckie street narrows into a bottle neck, congesting traffic and interfering with the advantage that will follow the completion of this highway.

The street widens again as it approaches the center of the city and along the part which it is proposed to widen there are no insurmountable obstacles in the way of permanent improvements.

Property owners have already agreed to donate the necessary frontage for the widening.

This movement was undertaken at the time Dr. John W. Ham was the pastor of the Baptist tabernacle, located on Luckie street, and he was very active for it. At that time the county commission agreed to widen the street and one of the strong supporters of the movement was Mayor-elect Ragsdale. When Dr. Ham left active lagged and nothing has been done since then.

North Side drive has been almost completed. It is particularly timely therefore that efforts to widen the bottle neck link on this street should be resumed.

With the former assurance of the county commission to do the work of widening, and with the practical certainty that the city, in connection with the property owners, will do the necessary paving, the undertaking should soon be under full headway with the united cooperation of county, city and property owners.

With this short part of Luckie street widened this splendid avenue reaching from the Piedmont hotel to the Chattahoochee river, should become one of the most attractive as well as one of the most useful highways in the county.

STRESSES A NECESSITY.

The widening of Courtland street, from Ponce de Leon avenue on the north side to Washington street on the south side, which was begun Monday, will give Atlanta another cross-town boulevard and serve a good purpose in relieving traffic congestion not only in the center of the city, but on the through-town thoroughfares. The beginning of this very essential city improvement, which will rank with the Spring street and the subsequent Madison avenue improvements, accentuates again the urgent necessity for composing at the earliest possible moment the differences involved in the construction of the Pryor street and Central avenue viaducts.

It accentuates also the necessity for completing arrangements as quickly as possible for the widening of Whitehall from the intersection of Forsyth street and Madison avenue to the Central railroad tracks to the west.

Atlanta is taking a forward step of almost incalculable magnitude in the reconstruction of her leading thoroughfares to the traffic demands not only of the day but of tomorrow.

In the Courtland street undertaking the Central Improvement association, of which Wade H. Davis is president, deserves hearty commendation for its untiring labors.

Don't blame the weather man because your coat isn't in, and you've lost the ticket for your overcoat.

The most surprising thing to Queen Marie is to read in a morning paper the three-column interview she never gave.

Queen Marie is quoted as saying, "I am just a plain woman of 50." But her American woman admirers will never believe that she told her age like that.

The Commerce News has been taken to country newspapers, in general. "The esteemed Washington (Ga.) Editor Constitution: An immediate remedy for the solution of West End's extremely dangerous traffic congestion at Lee and Gordon streets will be the opening up of Ogletree avenue from Lee street east about 300 feet to Whitehall street.

This can be done for approximately $20,000. It would be the cheapest, most practical and quickest way to relieve the heavy traffic at Lee and Gordon streets, by diverting the traffic to the new Ogletree avenue.

Any farmer can take his cotton warehouse receipt to the bank, and get a reasonable advance on it, but he has to pay interest, and the storage charges, and he will be left to do on the plans advanced at the cotton conference.

Let the banks come out and say: "We will buy your cotton at 10c per pound until the price is at what you think is just. That will put more 'bull' in the market and keep it there as long as the cotton is in the hands of the banks."

Balanced Production
The Only Remedy
Editor Constitution: Your editorial, "We Must Standardize," in last Sunday's Constitution, is a strong argument in the right direction to insure Georgia against any repetition of "this present cotton crisis."

The solution of the whole matter hinges on one sentence in your next to the last paragraph—"We must balance our production of cotton with the art of merchandising those productions."

All practical and thinking farmers know what you mean by balanced production. It should be practiced universally. The opening paragraphs in your article prove beyond question the overwhelming need of proper and profitable marketing of Georgia's superior products, the consuming public will choose them on merit.

By unanimous vote I was instructed to inform you that we endorse your views and commend your spirit as expressed in your editorial concerning lynching and mob violence, especially concerning the Dave Wright case.

Your statement that, "The court system will crumble, law will become a mockery, and constitutional government a failure if the mob is permitted to defy constituted authority," is correct.

We believe that such a stand as you have taken has contributed very largely to the reduction of this regrettable crime to the minimum in Georgia. May your tribe so increase that this blot upon the character of some people of our state will be no more.

EVERYDAY QUESTIONS

ANSWERED BY

Dr. S. Parkes Cadman.

Boston, Mass.
"I am a busy working woman, a lover of the Bible, and anxious to get at its basic contents. Can you recommend a short edition of the Bible? It must contain the familiar language which is dear to me. Some edition I have looked at are not so good, because they try to improve on the older translation. Please advise me on this and also the main characteristics of the Book."

The Bible has a few outstanding features: An intellectual quality which makes it the literary monument of any language into which it is rendered; a combination of the moral and the spiritual; and a presentation of the essential difference between the two leading groups.

Yes, there is a highly significant divergence of view among liberal Christians themselves. It finds sharp expression in the recent discussion between the humanists and theists. I find a clear presentation of the essential difference between the two leading groups.

So far as I can gather, humanists would substitute the race itself for its Creator. Their main ideal is the attainment of earthly conditions in which, rather than in creedal belief in a Supreme Being, they see the realization of moral progress for the race.

Thiists subordinate human society and all its temporal institutions to God's directing providence and to man's highest good in the worship of the eternal Father who is revealed in the personality and teaching of Jesus Christ.

Professor W. T. Davison, a British scholar of international reputation, dealt with the issue in a masterly manner in a recent number of "The London Quarterly Review." "The God of the Liberal Christian," by Professor Robinson, also discusses this question, defending them from radical humanist attacks.

Literature upon the subject is abundant. But "Zion's Herald," of Boston, had a capital editorial on it in a late number, and it excites considerable interest. It is a study in the circles of theology.

Personally I do not fear for the outcome. The Redeeming God of the New Testament will conquer the old. (Copyright, 1926, for The Constitution.)

Rampant Crime Is Caused
By Delay of the Law
Editor Constitution: Your editorial in last Friday's Constitution "Are We Civilized?" was one of the most sensible and convincing that I have noticed in quite awhile on this live subject.

Crime is rampant because we permit, with legal loopholes, not only delays in administering justice, but the complete cheating of justice. Crime is rampant because most of the criminals get away with it. Not only is this true as to the felonies against property such as burglary, larceny, etc., but as to capital offenses.

We believe that the inefficiency of law enforcement and the technicalities in procedure that makes it necessary to arm the postal service.

I want to utter a hearty Amen to your editorial on the subject. You have touched the very point that is causing disrespect for law and the courts. The courts are to blame. They are too slow. They are allowed to argue and quibble over technicalities and it now takes days to try a case where only a few hours were required a few years ago. The courts are too slow. ## HEALTHY TALKS

BY DR. WILLIAM BRADY.

WHAT TO DO WITH UNBURNED FUEL.

In one way I am sorry I have asserted so often and so arbitrarily that there is no such condition or disease as rheumatism, because many very good physicians still employ the meaningless term to refer to a certain group of more or less homologous diseases, such as sciatica, neuralgia, etc., which are really different conditions.

Rheumatism, as a word, is derived from Greek term which originally meant a flow or flux, especially a watery discharge from the nose, known since the dark ages as a "cold." This idea still clings to the term in the minds of lay mind, and I fear some such notion hovers in the background of the medical mind where this misleading term is still employed.

In another way I am glad to reiterate as often as possible that there is no such condition or disease as rheumatism, for by my voice ever concerned about the misleading effect in the mind of the younger reader, at any rate, and that will inevitably make physicians a little more cautious about perpetrating the rheumatism hoax on intelligent patients.

Among the various booklets or popular manuals which the prolific Dr. Barker, of Johns Hopkins, has gotten out lately is one entitled "Rheumatism: Its Meaning and Menace," and in this little book the indefatigable author firmly and gently assures the reader that "as a single entity 'rheumatism' has disappeared. We can afford to let it go, for we lose nothing."

We shall not, however, let "rheumatism" again in this book as a name for any specific disease, but only (and then rarely) as a designation for a group of diseases.

A remarkable conclusion—to make the word which has disappeared designate a whole group of diseases! I find a clear presentation of the essential difference between the two leading groups.

So far as I can gather, humanists would substitute the race itself for its Creator. Their main ideal is the attainment of earthly conditions in which, rather than in creedal belief in a Supreme Being, they see the realization of moral progress for the race.

53D INSTALLMENT.
It is not a pleasing thing to do to set down herewith the judge's very words in awarding me my divorce from Jean Acker, my first wife, and to whom I owe so very, very much. But it is not my story. It is the official charge of his honor. I have been fairly inundated with letters from all points of the compass, begging that I write my own inside story.

I can only say that I hold myself as belonging to the public, that it is they that make and hold me, that my life should be an open book to them, and that they are entitled to know what the judge's very words were in this case. From my diary I quote him:

Wife in Name Only.
"It is in the record, twice stated by the plaintiff, that there was never any cohabitation or living by her with the defendant after the incident of Mrs. Barnum's on his return from Lone Pine. That was stated once, and further along in the record was reiterated. It is also consistent with his testimony."

"Nevertheless, it is not the position and was not the position at any time during the year succeeding that, the position of the plaintiff that he had committed an act of cruelty upon her, that he had deserted her, and, therefore, she had the right to live apart from him."

"Her attitude in the case, and the theory of the case, has been all the time that she was favorable to their coming together."

"Of course, it would seem to me, as a result of the interview following his return from Lone Pine, that it would have been perfectly consistent."

Move Is Started To Widen Luckie; Meeting Called

Residents and property owners of Luckie street at a preliminary meeting held at the home of H. H. Randall, 327 Luckie street, have decided to begin at once an active campaign for widening of the narrow part of that street.

This link is only a few blocks from North avenue, toward the city's center, and with it widened to the measure of the other part of Luckie street nearer the city, the highway thus created between the Piedmont hotel and the Chattahoochee river by the combination of Luckie street, Hemphill avenue and North Side drive will become the longest and one of the most useful highways of the county.

The meeting was held at the residence of H. H. Randall, there being present, George H. Sims, Jack Hardy, Mrs. Lela Strickland, J. H. Carman, G. Peoples, T. E. Lauder, W. R. Beaty, L. P. Wilson and others, who took the leading part in the discussion of the proposal to widen the street.

A club was formed consisting of the residents and property owners of the street and it was agreed to hold a public meeting at the Payne Memorial church, Friday evening, October 29, at 7:30 o'clock.

All property owners and residents of Luckie street and others who are interested in the movement have been invited to be present. The meeting will be largely attended and it is certain that definite action will be taken toward this most important public improvement.

CHRISTIE GUILT PLEA DETAILS ARE GIVEN

Details of the entry of a plea of guilt by S. R. Christie, Jr., under indictment on misdemeanor charges involving alleged violation of the Georgia law governing dealing in futures on margin, recently published in The Constitution, were incomplete in that the original oral sentence of Judge John D. Humphries, of Fulton superior court, was given, but the subsequent sentence which was signed by the judge was omitted.

Mr. Christie entered the plea Monday through his attorney, Scott Caulder, and in the original oral sentence of the court, was fined $100 or given the alternative of serving six months.

At the request of Attorney Caulder, who pointed out that the fine would be paid immediately and he desired to have the alternative sentence omitted in view of this fact, Judge Humphries stated that Mr. Christie's case was identically the same as others under indictment on charges of operating the concerns as "bucket shops," but he would grant the request because Christie intended paying the fine.

UNIVERSITY PLANS EDUCATION DRIVE

Athens, Ga., October 27.—(AP)—The University of Georgia has launched a campaign to clean up child illiteracy in the state of Georgia by 1930, the year in which the next national census will be taken, it was announced here today by Chancellor Charles M. Snelling.

Public school officials, the state school department, attendance officers, and editors will be called upon to aid in the movement.

The campaign will be under the immediate direction of Dr. J. S. Stewart, professor of secondary education.

"As head of the state's system of education the University of Georgia can enlist in no more worthwhile cause than this," Chancellor Snelling said. "The satisfaction of having a part in placing Georgia among the fortunate states whose children are blessed with some education can only be exceeded by that of bringing the light of education into the lives of young people now outside the schools. I rejoice that the University of Georgia is to lead in this great work."

Dr. Stewart declared that "it is the duty of every Georgian to see that all illiterate children, white and black, attend school so that the state may make a clean showing in the 1930 census for children of school age, 10 to 18 years."

"There is no excuse for illiterates, 10 to 18 years of age," Dr. Stewart said. "The state is spending $17,000,000 a year on common schools. The public as well as the taxpayers have a right to demand that all children attend school, at least part of the time. School boards and attendance officers must see that there are no shirkers."

Dr. Stewart urged local editors to give the facts as regards school attendance in their respective towns. He believed that publicity will send the defaulters to school.

The 1920 census showed that the percentage of illiteracy in the whole population of Georgia above 10 years of age was 15.3 per cent. Eighty-two per cent of the white illiterates were over 21 years of age; 88.8 per cent of the negro illiterates were over 21 years; 18 per cent of the white illiterates were under 21 years, and 11.2 per cent of the negro illiterates were under 21. Dr. Stewart explained that about 85 per cent of the illiterates in Georgia have passed beyond school age.

The state census of 1923 showed that there were 3,127 white illiterate children between the school ages of 10 and 18, and 12,345 negro children for these ages, Dr. Stewart said.

Big Circus Giraffe Is Fed Despite Warning on Signs

The long-necked giraffe, shown above, is one of many which will be seen here on circus day, Monday, and his longing for food inveigles one to disregard the warning to refrain from "feeding the giraffes."

"Don't feed the giraffes!"

But Major White, the 18-inch-tall man of the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey combined shows, doesn't believe in signs. At least not when he has the circus Goliath along as a body guard. Besides, the Major and Old Andrew, who has charge of the giraffe herd are close friends. So now and then Andrew lets the midge feed his long-necked pet.

Jim Tarver, the big show giant, confesses to being jealous of the giraffes. "If it wasn't for them I'd be the tallest thing on earth, he declares."

Answering which the Major squeaks, "Aw, cut the holler, Jimsey, and hold me up so's I can give Annie this biscuit." Then the giant raises him on one hand as easily as you might lift a loaf of bread, and Annie sticks out her long tongue to take in the sweetmeat.

Contrasts are a marked feature of the big show of 1926. These opposites often trail together. There are no closer friends among the 1,600 people who travel with the combined shows than Major White and Tarver, the towering Texan. Then there is the palish existing between Old John, the ponderous working elephant, and "Baby Dolly," smallest of the thirteen infant elephants. They each sleep together in the same car at night—Dolly with her head propped on one of Old John's feet. Zero, the huge Siberian husky who draws a jockey in Madame Braden's act of many animals finds his closest friend in "Nellie Kelly," a fox terrier hardly larger than the big dog's head.

Those and the many other features that travel on the hundred cars of the great circus are coming here to exhibit next Monday afternoon and night for the first time since 1924.

RATE REDUCTIONS SOUGHT FOR COAL

Washington, October 27.—(AP)—Accounting officers of several railroads which participate in the carriage of lake cargo coal today presented to the Interstate Commerce commission statistics on the traffic and earnings in the business.

These are designed as a part of the evidence in the proceedings by which Ohio and Pennsylvania coal producers seek to obtain a rate reduction.

All of the railroads' spokesmen opposed the demand. J. J. Eakin, controller of the Baltimore & Ohio, North B. Smith, for the Pennsylvania, and J. M. DeBerry, for the Louisville & Nashville, brought forward the figures, all of which were said to supplement statistical exhibits made in previous hearings on the subject.

Mr. Eakin, in summarizing the showing, declared the results indicated that no additional coal traffic could be obtained by any rate reduction on lake cargo business, and that any loss of railroad revenue from such reduction if ordered by the commission, would have to be made up in the rates on other traffic.

Testimony in behalf of the Pennsylvania and Ohio operators was practically concluded at the session. It was indicated that West Virginia, Kentucky and Tennessee coal producers who oppose the rate revision sought, will be called tomorrow.

'Good Night,' Says Youth, Shooting Self

Camden, N. J., October 27.—Seven-year-old and turned by a quarrel with his best girl, Elmer Bowers stalked into his home after telling her "good night," closed the door of his room and shot himself through the head.

His father and mother were awakened by the pistol shot and they took him in the family automobile to a hospital, where little hope was extended that he would recover.

Bowers was an honor student and a senior at the high school in Clayton, a small community south of here. The girl was a sophomore named Ruth Beck.

The boy was conscious, but refused to tell his parents why he had attempted his life. When the girl reached the hospital she told them. Both were soon smiling and announced that they had "made up," not knowing that physicians believed death would soon part them again.

MONTREAL GIVES OVATION TO MARIE

A short hymn, and the magnificent Moghan addressed the guests.

"We welcome you as children welcome their mothers," he said.

Queen Marie tonight attended grand opera, "The Barber of Seville," featuring the great Chaliapin gave a gala performance in the forum, the largest auditorium in the metropolis.

There are 10,000 seats and everyone was taken. There was a mad rush all day for tickets.

Following the performance the royal party embarked on a special train for Ottawa, the dominion capital, where a round of feting has been arranged for tomorrow.

Wears Black Caracul Coat.

On arrival at the civic reception in the hall of honor of the new city hall, at the divine service in the Rumanian church, and during a drive around the city and environs, Queen Marie wore a coat of black caracul with lynx collar and cuffs and a broad band of lynx at the bottom. She carried a large lynx muff. Her hat was a draped turban of black with an ostrich mound drooping over her right shoulder. Her gown was of Valencia blue dinner suit with black collar and band at the bottom of the skirt and with a lace V-neck. She wore two long ropes of pearls and pearl earrings.

When he turned up about the middle of the afternoon and joined in the tour of suburbs it became known that he had spent the intervening hours in the railway shops of the Canadian National railways.

Visits Railway Shops.

Officials of the railway, having noticed the disposition of the prince yesterday at Toronto to break the routine of travel by playing an engineer on the locomotive of the special royal train, took the prince on one side when he arrived in Montreal and suggested a visit to the railway shops, the prince having exhibited an interest in locomotives.

The prince accepted the invitation with alacrity and at the first opportunity stole away to the shops. Later the railway officials entertained him privately at one of the clubs.

One of the surprises of the day was the nature of the liquid refreshments served at the civic luncheon. Mineral water and ginger ale only were served, despite the fact that Quebec is "wet."

Any Montreal luncheon or dinner of pretension usually includes wines on the menu, if not stronger drink.

Two rounds were drunk at the luncheon, one to King George, of England, the other to Queen Marie, of Rumania. There were no speeches. A private dinner was given this

REED WILL PROBE KLAN CONFERENCE

St. Louis, October 27.—(AP)—Turning its searchlight on the Indiana political situation again, the senate campaign funds committee will begin the examination here tomorrow of more than half a dozen members and former members of the Ku Klux Klan in that state.

Primarily Senator Reed, democrat, Missouri, the committee's chairman, will seek to establish whether Senator Watson, republican, who is seeking re-election next Tuesday, was present at a conference of high klans officials at Washington last January at which Walter F. Brossert, an Indianapolis lawyer, resigned as grand dragon of the hooded order in the Hoosier state.

Witnesses called for the hearing here include George Myers, of Indianapolis, whose name has been given to the committee as one of those who heard James V. Bolen, of Anderson, tell about the Washington conference and Milton Ellrod, of Indianapolis, formerly editor of the Fiery Cross, described as a Klan newspaper.

MOBLEY REUNION HELD AT POWDER SPRINGS

Powder Springs, Ga., October 27.—(Special.)—Thirty children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Mobley met at the old homestead in Paulding county Sunday, October 24, to celebrate the 62nd birthday of the mother, Mrs. Mary Torgelman Mobley.

The affair was so arranged that it came as a complete surprise to the parents, the guests bringing baskets with them.

The children from Rome, Atlanta, Athens, Powder Springs and Dallas gathered about 11 o'clock and at noon the dining table was laden with a sumptuous dinner with a huge pink and white birthday cake in the center bearing the letters, "Mother."

Prior to the serving of dinner, Mrs. Mobley was lived into the living room, where the various gifts were artistically arranged, and Miss Lucile McBrayer led the chorus of "Happy Birthday to You," and presented the gifts to her.

It was decided to set aside the third Sunday in October as the day for an annual family reunion.

Several appropriate readings were given by Mrs. M. D. Mobley, among them being "Mother of Mine."

Slayers Get Reprieve.

Raleigh, N. C., October 27.—(AP)—Robert Lumpkin and Booker T. Williams, negroes, under sentence to die in the electric chair Friday for the murder of M. B. Rodgers, Robeson county policeman, tonight were granted a stay of execution until November 29 by Governor Angus W. McLean.

The reprieve was granted to permit further investigation of the case.

QUEEN ASKED TO DENY REPORT SHE SMOKES.

Kokomo, Ind., October 27.—The rumor that Queen Marie, of Rumania, is a "smoke addict" is "disproved" in a letter which the local W. C. T. U. ladies today wrote to the queen and which will be received by the visiting sovereign when she reaches Denver, Colo. The letter expresses joy over the queen's presence in the United States and declares that it is "loath to believe that she does not understand the pernicious effects of smoking" and says "we hope to have from her a positive denial of this report."

No Solution Can Be Changed After It Has Been Once Registered

IMPORTANT FACTS TO REMEMBER

While the amount you pay with a solution of the puzzle does not have any effect on your winning an award, it does affect the amount you will receive should you win one of the first nine awards, as the value of these awards is determined by what the winners pay. This is explained in the award list, which you should study carefully before sending in your solution.

The time a solution is received has no bearing upon its winning an award. Accuracy is what counts. Not more than one award will be awarded to any one person.

Dominions' Plea For Diplomats Worries Britain

BY JOHN STEELE.

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

London, October 27.—It is possible that the United States may prove a decisive influence in limiting the growth of independence of the British dominions, the most difficult question before the imperial conference here, that of the dominions' carrying on their own diplomatic relations with the world.

The theory of ministers and ambassadors is that they are representatives of one head of one state to another.

His, Sir Eric Howard is personal representative of King George V. to President Coolidge. If Canada appoints Vincent Massey, as it was announced, the British dominions will have two representatives dealing with President Coolidge and the rest of the world.

South Africa and Australia and the rest of the world have half a dozen, Ireland already has a representative but the state department considers him part of the British empire.

Canada's announcement, however, raises the matter in acute form and the foreign office has laid the whole question before the conference for solution.

Another phase of the same question is the action of South Africa recently in discussing various trade matters with the consul general for America in Cape Town. Out of courtesy, the consul general listened and transmitted what was said to Washington, always, however, insisting that he had no power to conduct negotiations and all replies from Washington today attached much importance to the research committee of the conference which reported this afternoon on such problems as transport, foodstuffs, animal and plant diseases and standardizing imperial products in order to strengthen the empire through making one dominion know all about the others as well as Great Britain.

The committee decided to recommend an exchange of research workers. The effect of standardization of commercial products in the United States on breaking up sectionalism was studied by the committee, which hopes to unite the far flung parts of the empire through the same methods.

Stations which broadcast the navy's messages, American vessels in all parts of the world were Boston, Key West, Tootsah, San Diego, Honolulu, Balboa, San Juan, Tutuila, Samoa and Cavite.

Secretary of the Navy Wilbur, in a Navy day address here, stressed the necessity of maintaining an adequate navy as a protection for the American merchant marine, so that American goods can be moved in American vessels.

"The navy itself is dependent upon the merchant marine for many of its activities during war, and the merchant marine is wholly dependent upon the navy in time of war," he declared.

ACCIDENT HAZARD IN U. S. PICTURED AT SAFETY COUNCIL Fund Is Denied By Oregon Editor

Detroit, October 27.—(AP)—The hazard of accidents in America was pictured by a score of speakers before sessions of the National Safety council in congress today.

Dr. Harry E. Mock, Chicago, told the council that medical science has succeeded in cutting down the number of deaths from accidents, but that industrial and automobile accidents are being filled with victims of industrial and automobile accidents.

More than a million people are being killed annually by accidents, he said, and labeled "permanently disabled," he said. A rehabilitation program, by which the disabled could become a producer instead of a dependent, was proposed.

Walter G. King, New York, was announced as president of the council for the coming year, at the annual banquet tonight.

Montgomery, Ala., October 27.—(AP)—A letter from the U. S. Army, New York, soliciting aid in a search for her husband, Max Sasanoff, former grand opera singer and well known in Alabama, Fred M. Sasanoff, whom she alleges she has not seen for 15 months, was received by the Montgomery Journal today.

Mrs. Sasanoff declared she and her two children are in destitute circumstances.

Sasanoff was confined to the federal penitentiary at Atlanta during the Harding administration following conviction on a counterfeiting charge. Later he was pardoned by the president and soon after his release from the Harding administration he was arrested on charges of kidnapping and was held in custody at the U. S. Penitentiary at Atlanta.

Daviscourt Wins From Browning After Gruelling Fight

Garlington Returns To Practice; Cy Bell Goes to Infirmary

With Furman Game Only Three Days Away, Two Oglethorpe Stars Are on Casualty List—Lengthy and Strenuous Workout Staged Wednesday.

BY ALTON REDFEARN.
ITH Ed Garlington already on the casualty list, suffering a broken nose in scrimmage Tuesday, Cy Bell, backfield flash of the Oglethorpe Petrels, was Wednesday night in a hospital with chills and fever in the second serious mishap to the Petrel squad within a week. All this and the most important loop game the Birds face only three days away when the Purple Hurricane rages southward from Furman bent on victory.

Whether Cy will be able to resume activities in time to participate in Saturday's S. I. A. A. classic here was not known Wednesday night.

The Stormy Petrels concluded the hardest workout that will be held this week Wednesday afternoon when Coach Harry Robertson drove them through a lengthy signal drill, a hard scrimmage, blocking board practice and the regular routine of work.

Form Is Good.
And to down Furman Saturday, the Birds will need every bit of it. Wednesday afternoon when Coach Harry Robertson drove them through a lengthy signal drill, a hard scrimmage, blocking board practice and the regular routine of work.

Garlington in Uniform.
Ed Garlington, varsity right-half, who broke his nose in the scrimmage Tuesday, reported for practice Wednesday afternoon. He will in all probability be used some of the time against Furman Saturday, as a special made head gear has been secured to protect the injured nose. W. F. Chestnut, end, who has been out due to sickness also reported to practice yesterday and will have recovered by Saturday sufficiently enough to be used if necessary.

In the workout Wednesday, the varsity opposed the rats again in a long scrimmage. At the beginning of

GAMECOCKS IN TWO TILTS THIS WEEK-END

Columbia, S. C., October 27.—(Special)—South Carolina's Gamecocks wind up a busy ten days Saturday with a game at Columbia with the University of Virginia. Following the annual clash with Clemson at the state fair last week, Carolina turned to the Citadel game Thursday this week, and two days later, the Virginia game here.

When the Cavaliers and Gamecocks take the field Saturday at 2:30 it will be the first meeting between these two institutions here in eleven years, the last being in 1915, when Buck Mayer, brilliant Virginia back, scored twice in the first five minutes of play to give his team a 13 to 0 victory over South Carolina. Bill Folger, who afterwards played on a North Carolina team that beat Virginia, was the star that day for South Carolina, along with Luke Hill, great end, thought by many to be one of the best players ever turned out in this state.

So far as can be learned, South Carolina has never beat Virginia on the gridiron. The teams have met here a few times, and while there have been some close scores, the long has always been against the Gamecocks. In 1912, when South Carolina had the best team it has ever developed, Virginia was likewise strong, and the game resulted 19 to 0 in favor of the Cavaliers, despite vonKoltz, whose work was so splendid that Dr. Lamble placed him on his all-South Atlantic eleven.

It is hoped that the new contract between Virginia and South Carolina will be permanent and that henceforth the games will be uninterrupted. The last meeting of the two teams was at Charlottesville in 1916, Virginia winning 35 to 6. Frank Simril, making the South Carolina touchdown on a fake play, for point, still maintains that the ball went over the open end of the goalposts, it being alleged to this day that the kick was good.

Harry Greb Had Death Premonition

Pittsburgh, October 27.—(P)—Harry Greb, former middleweight champion of the world, had a premonition of death.

This was revealed today by his brother-in-law, J. Elmer Edwards, a few hours before Greb, who died in Atlantic City Friday, was laid to rest in a grave adjacent to that of his wife.

"For the last month or so, Harry has been rather despondent," Edwards said. "He spoke often of death and seemed spiritless in many ways. When he discussed matters pertaining to the future, he would preface his remarks with 'If I live, I may do it.' Judging from his conduct for several weeks immediately preceding his death, now that I look back on them, I am firmly convinced that he had a premonition of his fate."

PRO TENNIS COMPETITION IS PLANNED

New York, October 27.—(P)—The first definite step officially to establish American lawn tennis professionals in the competitive field was taken today by George Agutter, instructor of the West Side club at Garden City, N. Y., on an invasion of Europe tomorrow.

Agutter and his assistant, Paul L. Heston, will sail to compete in the professional tennis world set in motion by Charles C. Pyle, who invaded the amateur fold to sign Suzanne Lenglen, Mary K. Browne, Vincent Richards, Howard Kinsey and others for a tour of America and Canada.

While Pyle's activities apparently opened a breach between the professional and amateur ranks, however, Agutter has been given to understand that the United States Lawn Tennis association would not be unduly disturbed by his steps to launch a professional association. Moreover, Agutter says that officials have informed him that provision could be made for a professional title competition here next year.

While Pyle has announced tentative plans for an open championship tournament on the Pacific coast, Agutter expressed the opinion that only through the organization of American instructors, properly conducted, will the paid player ever be able permanently to establish himself on a sound foot in this country.

The famous railway coach in which the armistice was signed in November, 1918, will shortly, thanks to the generosity of an unnamed American, become a permanent memorial at the "Armistice Crossroads" at Rethondes, where the historic act took place. The interior of the coach will be restored as nearly as possible to its appearance at the time Marshal Foch received the German emissaries. French subscribers have guaranteed a permanent

University To Battle Boys High at Spiller's In Prep Headliner

Marist Will Meet Barnesville on Local Campus—G. M. A. Cadets Tackle Decatur in Latter's Back Yard—Tech High Journeys to Macon.

BY BEN COTHRAN.

ATLANTA's prep eleven will take a short breathing spell this afternoon before going into action on the various Atlanta grids Friday afternoon. All of the teams, with the exception of Tech High, will play in Atlanta.

University and Boys' High tie up at Spiller's tomorrow in the feature game of the schedule. Decatur and G. M. A., both having suffered one defeat in the prep season, will fight it out at Decatur. Marist plays Barnesville A. and M. on the Marist campus. Tech High will journey to Macon for a game with Lanier High school.

An interesting aspect was given the U. S. B. Boys' High encounter, when Ikel McLesker, star Boys' High end, and captain last year, decided not to play against University. At the beginning of the season, Red matriculated at University, and after a week of practice with the Bluebirds felt the urge to return to his old school.

Since returning he has held down his position at end in a capable manner. However, he feels that it wouldn't be fair to University to play in Friday's game, so he will watch the game from the bench, and Shorty Doyle is minus one good end.

Win on Bench.

Sam Colvin will most likely be shifted to Winn's place at fullback, and Martin, another sub who showed up well last Friday, will be used at quarter, according to Shorty. Outside of the two losses mentioned above, Boys' High will be the same as usual. Pup Phillips, fourth coach, also has a weighty problem confronting him. Ferguson, big fullback, had his collarbone broken at Louisville Saturday, and will be out for several weeks. Outside of Ferguson's injury, all of the other Bluebird varsity men are in

MODERN FOOTBALL

BY BENNY FRIEDMAN
(Captain and Quarterback Coaches' 1925 All-American)

(NOTE)—When the three great coaches, Knute Rockne, Glenn Warner and "Red" Jones, selected the all-American team, they were unanimous on one player, Benny Friedman, of Michigan, the star quarterback. Friedman was the leading scorer of the Big Ten conference, one of the greatest in the country for a quarterback. He was a true leader, a true captain, a true winner. He was the one of the most famous field generals of all time; one of the three great passers of the game. He was a true leader, a true captain, a true winner. He was the one of the most famous field generals of all time; one of the three great passers of the game.

Twelfth Article.
In football memory counts for much. You must remember plays and the numbers by which these plays are designated. And you must remember faces. Go into a conference room of any major college eleven a few days before an important game and you will find the walls covered with diagrams and photographs. These are the plays that will be used on the following Saturday and the men against whom they will be used, for the pictures are photographic. Every team has its set plays. They are designed by the coaches and the players. They are the situations that may arise and do arise in games. Then, through the season, other plays are added. These are special plays, planned against certain opponents.

All important plays are diagrammed and the players are asked to study them. Here you discover just how every man is to move; what every man is to do when the ball is snapped. There is this about a diagrammed play; it may look like the proverbial million dollars on paper but prove to be the value of a plugged nickel when put into execution against a certain team.

When you work out a diagram you know what the offense will do, providing that every man does exactly what he is supposed to do. But that is only half of what enters into successful execution; the other half is the defense. On a certain play your tackle and end may be asked to box in an opposing player. If he eludes them, which is not at all unlikely, the entire play fails.

You never know what the defense will do on a certain play, especially a trick play. You know what you hope they will do but they do not always respond to your hopes. Stupid Opponents.
A smart play always works best against an experienced team that has a smart defensive combination. You can be fairly well certain of what an intelligent player will do but you never know what a stupid opponent will do. The intelligent player will do the right thing; the unintelligent one may do the right thing but more likely he will do something entirely wrong and no coach can guess what it will be.

In football you may diagram a fake play. This will be safe against an intelligent team. You know just about what every man on the opposing team will do, how he will act to stop the play when it starts. Then, after you get every defense man moving in the direction you want him moving in and doing just what he is supposed to do, you suddenly switch into an entirely different action. You catch him by guard, you have him boxed in and blocked off and your runner moves ahead.

This same play, succeeding so well against the intelligent team, may fail against the team of little experience, or a team that has not been well coached. Several players will not do the right thing. They will move in the wrong direction. They will, as likely as not, through their very stupidity stop the play.

The team that makes the fewest mistakes should win any game where two teams of equal physical ability are engaged but it has also happened that games have been won on blunders by the team that blundered. Winning a football game on a raw mistake is not unheard of.

Still diagrams are necessary. You need them to school the offense. Your trick play can succeed only if all of your eleven men act in harmony, each doing the work assigned to him. I have seen great plays fail because

FOUR SOUTH CAROLINA TILTS TODAY

Columbia, S. C., October 27.—(P)—Four South Carolina teams will mix it on the gridiron tomorrow in two of the season's most important intrastate contests. The annual Citadel-South Carolina game, always a colorful event, will be staged at noon as a feature of the Orangeburg county fair; while the Wofford-Clemson combat will provide the attraction at the Spartanburg county fair.

In keeping with the record and tradition, South Carolina will enter the Orangeburg arena a favorite over Citadel. The cadets never have won from the university since the game became a fixture of the fair and only twice in gridiron history have the Bulldogs triumphed over the Fighting Gamecocks. This year, the South Carolina line averages about 10 heavier than Citadel.

Clemson's improved form, notwithstanding the 24 to 0 defeat it suffered at the hands of South Carolina last Thursday, has lessened its interest to its tussle with Wofford. The latter team has been consistently unsuccessful this season, but its strength in all its engagements has made it a respected foe.

After resting only one day, South Carolina Saturday will tackle the University of Virginia on its home field at Columbia.

GATORS POINT FOR BATTLE WITH BULLDOG

University of Florida, October 27.—(Special)—Half-way through their schedule with but one victory and four defeats, the Gators and the Bulldogs are doing as well as they were predicted to do. In their battle of last Saturday, defeat though it was, they showed a complete reversal of form over the previous week when they fell ignominiously before the Mercer Bears.

It is safe to say that with another week's practice, the shifted team that twice scored against the powerful Kentuckians, will be a formidable opponent for the University of Georgia Bulldogs on October 30 in Athens.

Sandlot Saturday Schedule Is Made

The Atlanta Sandlot league had a meeting Tuesday, October 26, at Mr. Sam H. Saltzman's office when the following schedule for Saturday's game was formed:

Kirkwood Cabin Owls vs. Grank Park at Kirkwood.
Atlanta Athletic association vs. Sealer Hurricane at Grant Park.
Rinky Dinks vs. Samaritans at Joe Brown.
Confederate Avenue vs. Northside Bulldogs at Piedmont.
Peachtree Peagreens vs. Martha Brown Eagles at Piedmont.

Briarcliff vs. O'Keefe Panthers at Candler park.
Emory Bulldogs vs. Maddox Park at Emory.
Gordon Street vs. Oakhurst at Decatur High school, at 3 p. m.

In the National league the Rinky Dinks and Samaritans hold the spotlight for the feature game of this league, while in the Southern league Briarcliff and O'Keefe hold the light with Oakhurst and Gordon Street running a close second.

It is not long ago that Yale ruled the east and Michigan was king of the west, two teams of extraordinary physical power and skill. Superior to every team they met, it was possible for them to play the same way week after week and ride over all opposition with the ease of a steamroller.

That day is gone in football. Now teams are nearly evenly matched. Not five major teams can go through a season without suffering at least one defeat. As time passes an increased number of good teams develop.

Match Is Featured By Many Thrills; Contos Is Referee

Paxos Wins in Two Straight Falls From Farmer McLeod—Young Crawley and Erwin Wrestle to Draw in Opener of Wrestling Card at Auditorium.

BY DICK HAWKINS.
"Rough Richard" Daviscourt, the wild man from the land of sunshine and oranges on the Pacific coast, met his match in roughness at city auditorium Wednesday night in the person of Jim Browning, husky grappler from Wichita, but Browning went down to defeat in the third fall when he struck his head on the floor and stunned himself so that Daviscourt had easy picking.

The match was filled with rough tactics but there was little violation of rules because the watchful eye of Referee Contos, in the ear-massaging from bell to bell. Contos, the promoter of the wrestling shows, did his best to prevent the usual unethical tactics found in every bout where Daviscourt is a participant but it was impossible to prevent all the slugging and other violations despite constant warnings.

It was a thrilling match for the spectators. Time after time the referee was brought to his feet when one or the other of the grapplers was thrown from the ring. On one occasion both wrestlers fell through the ropes to the floor and continued to wrestle until policemen separated them.

It was a grudge fight without a shadow of doubt and afforded more thrills for the spectators than any bout ever seen in the auditorium. The final fall came suddenly and unexpectedly. Browning applied his famous headscissors and when the doughty Daviscourt several times and seemed to be slightly fresher than the all-American but a sudden headlock applied by Daviscourt turned the tables for the nonce.

After applying several headlocks, Daviscourt neglected to raise his head quickly enough and Browning clamped him in a head scissors. When Daviscourt came out of this hold he was groggy but Browning leaped too high to apply the second scissors and when Daviscourt dodged the big Kansas hit the mat on his head with the full weight of his body behind the blow. He came staggering to his feet but Daviscourt was ready to apply his deadly headlocks and the match was over before Browning's head would clear the ropes.

Daviscourt won the first fall by a series of five headlocks in 18 minutes and 30 seconds. It was a see-

Bulldogs Begin Work After Two-Day Rest

BY MARCUS BRYANT.
Athens, Ga., October 27.—The ban on practice for the Georgia Bulldogs for the past two days was lifted this afternoon and found the Red and Black in a lengthy scrimmage, preparatory to the meeting with the Florida Gators here Saturday in the headliner of "home-coming."

The afternoon was spent in both defensive and offensive play, with two varsity teams used. Physically, the rest provided was beneficial and for the first time of the year, the Bulldogs will present strongest strength. Those bothered with slight injuries are expected to be ready for the game.

A varsity team lined-up offensively this afternoon as follows: "Black-sher" Smith, center; Gene Smith and Rogers, guards; Luckey and Morris, tackles; Shiver and Woodall, ends; Boardman, quarter; Captain Morton and Sherlock, halves; McCrary, fullback. This is the line-up facing Vanderbilt in last Saturday's start.

"Chick" Shiver will draw the punting assignment in the future games. Shiver stepped into the role last Saturday and his performance was a feature of the game. Florida, after getting off to a somewhat weak start, fought bravely against the Kentucky Wildcats last week, losing 18 to 13. Previously, the Gators dropped a 3 to 0 game to the Mercer Bears, Bulldog opponents in the season's opener and a vanquished foe, 20 to 0.

Georgia and Florida have not met on the gridiron since 1920, the game resulting in a 53 to 0 Bulldog triumph. In 1919 the teams played at Tampa, Georgia winning 16 to 0.

It was in this game that Artie Pew and Rigdon, tackles, were forced to retire from the game due to the severe heat, the thermometer registering 92. One of the biggest mass meetings in the history of Athens was held to night in the university chapel, and interest is at a high pitch. Though Bulldog colors have been lowered in defeat in the past three games, confidence has not been dealt a blow, as manifested by the local citizenry and student body jointly holding the mass meeting. Speeches were delivered by the coaching staff, Dr. Sanford, Mayor Dudley and others, with "Bob" Mc-

THE MAGIC LETTERS THAT OPEN THE DOORS OF OPPORTUNITY AND SAVINGS

When you work out a diagram you know what the offense will do, providing that every man does exactly what he is supposed to do. But that is only half of what enters into successful execution; the other half is the defense. On a certain play your tackle and end may be asked to box in an opposing player. If he eludes them, which is not at all unlikely, the entire play fails.

You never know what the defense will do on a certain play, especially a trick play. You know what you hope they will do but they do not always respond to your hopes. Stupid Opponents.
A smart play always works best against an experienced team that has a smart defensive combination. You can be fairly well certain of what an intelligent player will do but you never know what a stupid opponent will do. The intelligent player will do the right thing; the unintelligent one may do the right thing but more likely he will do something entirely wrong and no coach can guess what it will be.

In football you may diagram a fake play. This will be safe against an intelligent team. You know just about what every man on the opposing team will do, how he will act to stop the play when it starts. Then, after you get every defense man moving in the direction you want him moving in and doing just what he is supposed to do, you suddenly switch into an entirely different action. You catch him by guard, you have him boxed in and blocked off and your runner moves ahead.

This same play, succeeding so well against the intelligent team, may fail against the team of little experience, or a team that has not been well coached. Several players will not do the right thing. They will move in the wrong direction. They will, as likely as not, through their very stupidity stop the play.

The team that makes the fewest mistakes should win any game where two teams of equal physical ability are engaged but it has also happened that games have been won on blunders by the team that blundered. Winning a football game on a raw mistake is not unheard of.

Tech Entrains for Notre Dame Tilt This Afternoon

JONES WILL NOT DEFEND BRITISH TITLE NEXT YEAR

Studies and Business Are Reasons Given By Golfing Champion

Will Enter Amateur Tourney and Will Probably Defend American Open Title, However, Bobby Declares in Making Known His Decision.

Robert Tyne Jones, Jr., holder of the British open and American golf titles, will not defend his title in Great Britain next summer, he said Wednesday. Bobby won the British open at St. Anne's by the Sea last summer.

The reason advanced by the Atlanta golfing marvel was that his studies at Emory university law department and his business interests here would occupy his attention.

In making the announcement, Bobby said that he would probably defend his American open title next year, and would probably enter in the American amateur tourney unless unforeseen incidents made it impossible.

By capturing the British and American amateur title, Bobby was semi-officially designated as the golfing champion of the world.

A short time after his victories at St. Anne's and at Scioto Country club, in Columbus, Ohio, however, he lost the amateur title to George Von Elm at Baltusrol Country club, New Jersey.

TECH'S CROSS COUNTRY MEN STAGE TRIAL

BY JULIEN SAKS.

Tech's cross country team had their first tryout over a five-mile course Wednesday afternoon in preparation for the Southern conference race which will be held over the distance. Roy Brewer negotiated the distance in 27 minutes and 44 seconds, outdistancing Tom Wright by about 20 yards. Williams, Morgan and Peacock came in handily in the order named after a furious sprint to the tape. Fickett, Saks, Bell, Hart, Stein and Hunt constituted the rest of the field and finished in the order named.

Tech has been negotiating for a meet with Auburn for next Saturday but Auburn will be unable to run. Instead of going to Auburn, the Tech cross-country team will journey down to Athens Saturday and take a workout over the course which will be used during the conference meet to be held next month.

Tech's first meet is November 12, with Georgia, but there will be a meet on November 6, though the opponent is not definitely known. Eight days after the Georgia meet will be the big run of the season, the S. C. meet in Athens. A little later the Tech harness will journey to the city of Birmingham for the Southeastern A. A. U. meet, which will close the cross-country season in the south.

Green Calls Meet In Southeastern

Montgomery, Ala., October 27.—(AP)—The annual meeting of the board of directors of the Southeastern Baseball league will be held here Friday, it was announced today by President Cliff Green. Several important matters, he said, will be taken up at the meeting. Heading the list is a proposed plan to increase the league from six clubs to eight.

President Green announced that he would tender his resignation as president of the league. Officers for the next year are the residents at the meeting and a committee will be named to draft a schedule for the 1927 season.

Three Georgia cities, Savannah, Columbus and Albany; two in Florida, Jacksonville and St. Augustine, and Montgomery comprise the Southeastern league.

Color Line Again

New York, October 27.—An alleged refusal by the United States Naval academy football team to play Colgate university unless Ray Vaughn, negro, was kept on the bench is condemned in a protest by the National Association of Colored People. It was admitted that the association had no direct information that the midshipmen had objected to Vaughn's playing.

WOMEN'S CITY GOLF TOURNEY OPENS MONDAY

BY MRS. CLARENCE BRADLEY.

A field of 50 Atlanta women golfers is expected when the qualifying round of the 1926 women's city tournament at East Lake Country club begins Monday morning. It is the eighth annual women's tourney and will be staged under the direction of the Atlanta Women's Golf association.

The course at East Lake will be open for entrants in the morning during the remainder of the week, during which time those entered that are not familiar with the course can become acquainted with its nooks and corners and can add finishing touches to their game.

Match play will begin Tuesday following the qualifying round, and matches will be arranged according to qualifying scores. All matches will be played from scratch and all styles will be played. "Gunner" rules will be used for the tourney.

While a complete entry list has not yet been arranged, there will be a number of prominent women golfers in the tourney. Miss Rosalie Mayer, one-time city champion, however, is not expected to enter.

Among those who are expected to be entered in the tournament are Mrs. Helen Morgan Lowndes, three-time city champion, and defender of that title; Mrs. T. T. Williams, Mrs. L. H. Beck, Miss Margaret Maddox, Mrs. J. E. Jager, Mrs. Tommy Wilson, Mrs. M. C. Harris, Mrs. H. K. Humphrey, Mrs. L. W. Grunwald, Mrs. Eleanor McAuliffe, Mrs. A. Guy Smith, Mrs. W. D. Donk, Miss Jimmie Pattillo, Mrs. John Hill and Mrs. William Louns.

WEST POINT, SYRACUSE GAME PROBED

West Point, N. Y., October 27.—Official investigation of the recent Army-Syracuse football game in which five players were seriously injured is to be opened at West Point next Monday.

Brigadier General M. B. Stewart, superintendent of the military academy, and Chancellor Flint, of Syracuse university, will question witnesses regarding alleged unnecessary roughness during the game, which was the first between football teams of the two institutions for several years and which eventually was won by the Army, 27 to 21.

Trappell, of the Army, was carried from the field with blood streaming from his face, which had been lacerated by Orange cleats. He and Elias of the Army, who sustained a badly lacerated knee, were taken to the hospital after the game.

Carr, of Syracuse, was so badly hurt that he may not play again this season, while Goldman and Friedman, of the Orange squad, also were severely injured.

Quartermaster Baysinger, of Syracuse, who lost his head and assaulted Ref. Victor Savinetti, was banished from the game and afterwards resigned from the Orange football squad.

Future athletic relations between the Army and Syracuse are understood to depend upon the result of the investigation by the heads of the two institutions.

Alex Determined To Win.

What will Coach Alex do at Notre Dame Saturday? A natural and much-asked question around these parts now. We do not claim to know what Coach Alex will do, but we will be in South Bend to attempt to tell what he did do after the game is over.

The interested fans—who can always run a football team, a prize fight, a golf tourney or a republican convention better than the man who is supposed to run it—seem to be divided in opinion as to what Alex should do in South Bend.

There are those who will immediately call for his resignation (AGAIN) if he sends his second team on the field against the Irish, and there are those who will ask the same thing if he does not send his second team on the field.

As always—Coach Alex cannot do the right thing because in football coaching one cannot even please all the people of the time.

We were told by Alex no earlier than Tuesday that he expects to start the strongest team he can muster in the game against the Irish. What he will do in the way of substitutions depends entirely on the progress of the game.

In other words we would draw from the scanty information imparted by Alex that he expects to give the Irishmen a run for the money regardless of the cost. And there is some question that there will be any great cost even if Alex does use his first varsity team against the Notre Dame horse herd. There are enough good substitutions to be made in the Jacket line-up now to obviate any great strain on any individual and still keep the team near its strongest point.

There seems to be no question that a large number of the 34 Jackets who train today for the north will see service against the Irishmen. Coach Alex left this assumption open by declaring that his substitutions would be entirely guided by the progress of the game.

If we are allowed to express our opinion we hope mightily that the director of Tornado destiny will not go after the Notre Dame game at the risk of conference chances. Tech has three epic struggles on her schedule after the battle with the sons of Erin and victory in all of these games would place Tech in a good position to at least claim a tie in the conference in the event that Alabama is taken down by one of her remaining foes. This contingency is remote, to be sure, but strange things happen in modern football and we are of the opinion that Coach Alex would be wise not to forget his conference struggles while in South Bend.

Incidentally, we are confident that Coach Alex will NOT forget his conference games and that he will do his best to save his men for the Vandy, Georgia and Auburn games.

Regret Follows Bob's Decision.

Bobby Jones will not defend his open golf championship of Great Britain next summer—a statement which cannot be received by followers of the ancient game without a tinge of regret.

To all and sundry who know Bob Jones there is little question that he could bring the famous British trophy back to America again if he were to try. There is double regret from the fact that Bobby was beaten in the British amateur last year when he was a prime favorite to win and the feeling is strong that he could take that title also if he had the opportunity.

But back of it all lies the conviction that Bobby Jones is again playing the man with a capital "M." It must be a great temptation for Bobby and it entails a deal of sacrifice for him to remain in this country at his business and school while the championship is slipping from his grasp to some golfer who may very well prove to be his inferior.

It is indeed a sacrifice and one which redounds to the credit of the world's greatest golfer. Bobby Jones has decided to become an attorney, and all the honor and acclaim which goes with a British golf title cannot swerve him from this purpose. All of which adds to the certainty that Bobby will make a great attorney as well as a champion golfer.

Standish's Visit of Importance.

A move of prime importance to the golfers of Atlanta is the action of the United States Golf association in bringing to Atlanta James Standish, of Detroit, who will discuss the construction of several new municipal golf courses in Atlanta.

James D. Standish, (or Jimmy Standish, as he is known throughout the golfing world) is chairman of the public links section of the U. S. G. A. and a man of action in every sense of the word. The city of Atlanta owes much to Thomas B. Paine and other members of the U. S. G. A. who were instrumental in bringing him here.

Atlanta is a "golf town" and the visit of "Jimmy" Standish means that golfing authorities are realizing the fact to the extent that they are pushing the construction of more municipal courses. Something which Atlanta is much in need of.

Notre Dame Strongly Favored Over Jackets

New York, October 27.—(AP)—The battle for intersectional gridiron supremacy this season, in which the east has set the pace so far, will find the middle west on the war path this Saturday, seeking revenge in a series of notable college engagements.

Four of the middle west's strongest eleven—Michigan, Illinois, Missouri and Notre Dame—are after the scalps of foes from other sectors, reinforced in the conflict by the Redskins themselves, the Haskell Indians, and the Michigan State.

Michigan's Wolverines, invading the Navy's stronghold in a game at Baltimore, and Knute Rockne's Hoosiers, tackling Georgia Tech at South Bend, Ind., are strongly favored to win but the other middle western contenders face less promising prospects of victory. Neither Michigan nor Notre Dame has tasted defeat so far and both figure in the front rank of teams seeking national championship recognition.

Illinois entertains one of the east's most powerful bidders for title honors in Pennsylvania, which will go west with high hopes of atoning for the stunning reverse that Red Grange and the Illini handed the Quakers in the mud of Franklin field last fall.

Missouri, champion of the Missouri valley conference in 1925, meets another strong unbeaten eastern array in West Virginia. The Missourians haven't been defeated either but they have been tied twice and the Mountaineers appear to have an edge for the contest, scheduled at Morgantown, W. Va.

The Haskell Indians have their war-paint on for Bucknell, which has not measured quite up to its usual standard this year in spite of the coaching efforts of "Uncle Charley" Moran, who guided the Centre Colonies to national fame a few years ago.

Colgate vs. Michigan. Michigan State, which gave Cornell something of a scare two weeks ago, makes another sortie into New York to engage Colgate with a keen battle in prospect.

So far the east has made almost a runaway of the intersectional tussle and figures to keep the Red record.

LINKS CHIEF WILL ARRIVE HERE TODAY

James D. Standish, Jr., head of the municipal links section of the United States Golf association, will be paired with Watts Gunn against Bobby Jones and Chick Ridley in a four ball match to be played at East Lake Thursday afternoon.

Mr. Standish will arrive in Atlanta early this morning, and plans have been completed for his visit.

Following Mr. Standish's arrival this morning, he will visit the municipal courses and Piedmont park, the St. Charles, and Candler park. He will be entertained at luncheon today at the Athletic club.

The principal event of Mr. Standish's visit will be the meeting tonight at the Athletic club's townhouse, open to the public, where Mr. Standish and Robert F. Maddox, former mayor of Atlanta, will be the principal speakers on a program that promises to be of interest to public links golfers in Atlanta.

less of the outcome of this week's games. With 25 major intersectional tilts recorded up to date, the east has won seven out of 11 from the middle west, and nine out of ten from the south, the other being a tie.

34 Players To Make South Bend Journey; Practice in Chicago

Alex is Determined to Make Huge Effort at Victory Over Famed Indiana Irishmen—First String Line-up Will Probably Be Started.

BY CARTER BARRON. COACH AEOLUS ALEXANDER is preparing to take a mighty Golden puff at the Irish that are anything but "shanty" at South Bend next Saturday. And if the plans of Coach Alex are carried out as he wants them to be, then the nation will be starting under the unusual football item that Georgia Tech has ministered Notre Dame the second defeat that team has known in three years.

To this end, 34 Golden breezes, accompanied by a retinue of backers, coaches and managers, will embark on a lengthy journey this afternoon at 5:30 o'clock. The cream of the flats will be aboard that Golden Tornado special, and every one of them has been imbued with the idea of beating Notre Dame. There should be loads of fighting spirit and to spare at South Bend Saturday.

In the face of three conference games to follow, Coach Alex is going out to win from the mighty silk-clad warriors of the Indiana institution.

Here They Are. The Jackets that will be available for service in South Bend Saturday will be: Erwin, Martin, Tharpe, Hood, Pool, Marshall, Crowley, Murray, Barron, Parham, McRae, Angley, Lillard, Thrash, Pund, Brewer, Drennon, Horn, Smith, Read, Bullard, Randolph, Durant, Waddy, Bunch, Gaston, Westbrook, Holland, Largent, Fitzgerald, Schuman, Jamieson and Kusk. With them will be Coaches Alexander, Bill Fincher and Don Miller, along with Dr. Skiles and Managers Beatty, McClellan, Whitaker and Powell.

This afternoon beginning at 2 o'clock and continuing for one and one-half hours these same Jackets will covet on Grant field in their final preliminary skirmish preparatory to departing. The practice has been set for only an hour and a half to allow plenty of time for preparation before departure.

The final practice before game time will be staged in Chicago Friday afternoon and Saturday morning. The Jackets will journey the short distance separating them from South Bend where they will meet the toughest opponent on the year's menu.

Again the Jackets are the underdogs, and this time the odds are heavier against them than in any previous game this year. They seem to perform better when the dopests make them underdogs.

Strenuous Session. Wednesday afternoon the most strenuous practice session of the season was taken on. The men making the trip were lined into three elevens, and against the frosh were scrimmaged for 20 plays.

In the 20 play period, each of the three elevens that will make the trip to South Bend managed to chalk four touchdowns, which isn't such a terrible showing.

Following the 20 plays against the frosh, each eleven was taken to the dummy pits where a lengthy blocking and tackling exhibition was staged. The regular routine of practice followed, signal drills, receiving and running.

Scrimmages with the freshmen, equipped with V. P. I. plays, have been the order of the week for the Cats. The squad returned from their successful Florida invasion in good shape, and with few injuries.

Tucky Prepares For V. P. I. Tilt

Lexington, Ky., October 27.—(AP)—With one southern conference scalp dangling from their belts, the University of Kentucky Wildcats are out for V. P. I. blood Saturday, and with visions of later downing last year's conference champions, the University of Alabama.

Only victories over both V. P. I., who they play Saturday, and Alabama, whom they play in November, will atone for their one-point loss to Washington and Lee, the Wildcats state, as they practice overtime at Stoll field.

The Virginia Polytechnic institute game is looked upon here as one that will "make or break" this year's record. Victory over the "Gobblers," who rank second to Alabama in conference football, would put the Cats in a good position to battle for the southern championship. Get "V. P. I. and Alabama" is the cry that resounds over the campus.

Scrimmages with the freshmen, equipped with V. P. I. plays, have been the order of the week for the Cats. The squad returned from their successful Florida invasion in good shape, and with few injuries.

Peachtree Road Station Popular

If a ballot were to be taken as to the most popular Atlanta motorists would undoubtedly pile up heavy vote in favor of the spin out Peachtree road. This trip tempts an endless stream of motorists every day, and a veritable river of them on week-ends. To serve those who turn their cars into this beautiful section, as well as to make available Reed's service to the residents of the Peachtree road section, one of the most beautiful and one of the roomiest filling stations in Atlanta has been erected at 1820 Peachtree road, just beyond Seaboard bridge.

Two wide entrance drives flanked by five visible pumps which guarantee the purchaser of full gasoline measure, make possible the quick serving of even the great number of motorists who flock to this station on pleasant week-end afternoons. A drain pit for the proper handling of crank case, rear end and spring lubrication service is part of the station's equipment.

Like all Reed stations, the Peachtree road station is manned by selected employees—men skilled in the rendering of proper service and in addition chosen because of their courtesy and inherent desire to please. No matter what your needs may be, whether you wish a tank full of Blu-Streak, richer and more powerful gas; a quart of Havis pure 100 per cent Pennsylvania Motor Oil—lubricating service properly done or just a little air for a rear tire or a bit of water for your radiator, drive into this or any other Reed station. Your needs will be filled perfectly and courteously.

Motorists who are near the Peachtree Road Station yet not quite near enough for convenience will find the same type of Reed service at North avenue and Spring street (Station Number 12), or any of the other twenty-two Reed stations so conveniently located throughout the city. All stations are open from 6:30 in the morning until 11:00 at night. All stations are equipped with visible pumps which were first introduced in Atlanta by the Reed Oil company. All stations are operated by and under the direct inspection of the Reed Oil company and are subject to the rigorous service standards which insure quick, complete and entirely satisfactory service for you.—(adv.)

INSTALLMENT XXXIV. PLAYING THE GAME.

As he talked, Chad passed Dorinda to Kitty, shook hands with David, and dropped on to the freshly made hospital bed with a sigh of deep content. Like the other two, he was incredibly grimy and his clothes looked as if he had slept in them. Kitty took up the simple annals of their journey.

"Do you realize, Dorry," she asked in her husky voice, "that we, your faithful little friends, have been in a dingy day coach since 5 o'clock? We have. We read in the Record last night that Mrs. Bradley was leaving you today, so we left in the blue dawn this morning; and the blue dawn had nothing on us after the first thirty minutes, especially as we had stayed up all night to make sure we'd start. If we could have got out and walked back we'd have done it, but once the train really got under way it bumped along without stopping for two hours."

"We had nothing to eat," Bryant carried on. "There was no dining car on the train. So Chad stole two oranges from a baby in the 'eat behind us, and I took refreshing draughts from the water cooler at intervals, and if Kitty hadn't brought a flask I don't know what would have become of us. As it is—isn't there some food waiting for this relief expedition?"

"Of course there is," Dorinda gulped. "David, ring the bell. The nurse has gone to her lunch, leaving us to take care of each other, but I'm sure we can find an orderly or some one else who will feed you."

When the orderly came Chad greeted him before Dorinda could speak.

"James," he said cordially, rising to a sitting position on the bed, "we are three of Mrs. Goddard's dear friends, who have flown to her side in her hour of trial. Later on we are going to be a great comfort to her, but just now our systems are weakened by lack of nourishment. Do you think you could get us some grouse and plovers' eggs and a little old port or something of the sort, and do it briskly?"

James grinned, glancing from face to face of the circle before him. Mrs. Goddard's friends were a weird looking bunch, all right, but she and her husband seemed willing to stand for them, though the bridegroom didn't look exactly happy. In fact, though they were all making a lot of noise, James was convinced that the only really happy member of the party was the puppy.

"I suppose they will be criticized," she admitted.

"It's after lunch time for visitors," he began.

"Of course it is," Chad heartily agreed. "That's why a bright, upstanding young chap like you is willing to give the silly rules one in the eye and rise to an emergency. Any one can get food at lunch time. It's the lad who can storm the larder between the meals we're looking for, and something tells me we have found him. Hurry up, old man, and minister to us before we perish. What was on the luncheon menu today?"

"Cold chicken—" James remembered.

"Ah!" Chad sighed ecstatically. "James, you interest me strangely. What else?"

"Lettuce—"

"Not so good. I prithee, James, do better."

"Apple pie—"

Chad got off the bed.

"Say no more, but lead us to the pie, and that right quickly. We'll take the pup, too. He needs a drink, and a bath, and a square meal, and a lot of other things." He seized the leash, dragged the unwilling puppy to the door, and, with a sweeping gesture, directed his associates to precede him into the hall. "When we return, Dorinda," he called from the threshold, "we will inquire into your condition and listen to a few of your symptoms—not too many of them, however, unless the luncheon is better than we have reason to believe it will be. For the moment, farewell. Onward, friends! Forward, James!"

He followed his friends into the hall, closing the door after him. Left alone, Dorinda and David looked at each other, she exultantly, he with a dark steadiness that carried its message to her.

"It was good of them to come, wasn't it?" she said at last. "But I see you don't like it. Do you mind, very much?"

"Not if you will send them over to the hotel and keep them there most of the time."

"Naturally, the hotel will be their headquarters. But I hope you won't object to my having them here to cheer me up. The Lord knows I need them," she passionately added.

"I know I have no right to object to anything you or your friends do," David admitted, turning from her to stare out of the window as he spoke. "But, on the other hand, you ought to realize what a respectable looking lot those three are, and what will be said about them." He ended with the thought that was filling his mind. "Thank heavens, Alice was out of the way before they came!"

"That is lucky," Dorinda icily agreed. "However, they are my guests, not yours, so you needn't see any more of them than you care to, or feel under any obligations to entertain them."

"That's understood, of course," he started toward the connecting door, but suddenly wheeled to face her. "Don't you see how this is going to look, and what a lot of talk it will make, and how it's going to hurt us?"

"As if something in his voice had touched her, she softened. "I suppose they will be criticized," she admitted. "They always are, wherever they go. But there's no sense in blaming me because they came. Their appearance was as big a surprise to me as it was to you."

"That's so—I know. But—the point is—you liked having them come. You're glad they came! Things come along that shoot all our plans to pieces and—somehow—we look at them from exactly opposite angles. That's the discouraging part of this business. They are things that affect us both—things we've both got to take the consequences of—but you seem to have no sense of responsibility about them."

He stopped and went on in a different tone.

"However, probably I'm getting stirred up over nothing—"

"It's a habit you have," she icily informed him. "If that's so, I've got to get over it," he said good humoredly. "But you don't think they're planning to stay, do you? This place will bore them to death. They'll get off tonight or tomorrow, won't they?"

She crossed the room to face him. "I don't know what their plans are," she said slowly. "Probably they haven't any. They never have. But you may as well understand that I want them here, that I am glad they came, as you have just pointed out, and that I keep them here as long as I can."

For a moment the two pairs of eyes held. Then Goddard laughed rather shakily.

"Well, that's that," he said, and went over to the window to stare out of it again, his free hand clenched tight in the pocket of the gay red bathrobe. She waited till he turned and faced her.

"When you and I made our bargain, Dorinda," he reminded her, speaking very slowly, "you told me you were leaving a lot of things unsaid—trusting them to my honor. Didn't you?"

"Yes, I did."

"Well, I was leaving things unsaid, too. I was trusting certain things to your honor. I was counting on you to play the game—and not to put me in these hellish positions."

"It was distinctly understood," she reminded him, "that I was to choose my own friends and lead my life."

Every Night

Do this to keep your skin clear and pretty

By NORMA TALMADGE

If powder or rouge ever touches your face, do this—a simple rule that is bringing natural loveliness to thousands

MOST women these days use powder or rouge, make-up in one way or another. Yet not one woman in fifty knows how to use these accessories in safety to her skin.

Correctly used, powders, rouge and make-up will not injure. Incorrectly used, they invite a poor complexion.

Note the rule below. Try it for one week. Mark the improvement in your skin when pores are nightly
relieved of their "make-up" accumulations with the soothing olive and palm lather of Palmolive in this way:

WHAT YOU MUST DO

Wash your face gently with Palmolive Soap, massaging it softly into the skin. Rinse thoroughly.
Then repeat both washing and rinsing.
Apply a touch of cold cream—
that is all.

Follow these rules. Your skin will be soft and lovely. As the months roll by, you'll need fewer and fewer cosmetics.

Do not use ordinary soaps in the treatment given above. Do not think any green soap, or represented as of palm and olive oils, is the same as Palmolive.

BE SURE YOU GET THE
REAL PALMOLIVE

Remember that before Palmolive came, women were told, "use no soap on your faces." Soaps then were judged too harsh. Palmolive is a beauty soap made for one purpose only: to safeguard your complexion. 60 years of soap study stand behind it. Millions of pretty skins prove its effectiveness beyond all doubt.

And it costs but 10c the cake —
so little that millions let it do for their bodies what it does for their faces. Obtain Palmolive today. Note what an amazing difference one week makes. The Palmolive Company (Del. Corp.), Chicago, Illinois.

oped in patent leather with black

Miss Guthman Weds Mr. Held At Lovely Home Ceremony

The marriage of Miss Yetta Carolyn Guthman and Charles Henry Held, of Richmond, Va., was solemnized Wednesday evening at 8:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Guthman, on the North Decatur road in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends. The ceremony was performed in the living room before the wide mantle which was flanked with a profusion of lilies, ferns, foliage plants and potted flower plants. Two seven-branched candelabra holding slender white burning tapers formed an illuminated arch in the center of the improvised altar. Floor baskets filled with pink roses were arranged at intervals, and were also used in the decoration of the other rooms of the home. Garlands of smilax draped the doorways and broad windows. Smilax veiled the chandeliers and formed an aisleway for the bride party. Clusters of pink roses graced the aisle posts and bouquets of these lovely flowers ornamented the stairway.

Bridal Party.
The bride party entered to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march played by Miss Isabelle Clarke on the violin and Mr. Kent at the piano. The bridesmaids included Henry Rosenbaum, Dr. Maurice Clarke and K. Holland. Gerson Held, the groom's brother, acted as best man. The maid-of-honor, Miss Evelyn Guthman, wore a beautiful costume of pink chiffon elaborately beaded in rhinestones. Miss Irma Guthman was the junior maid-of-honor and she wore a frock of orchid chiffon trimmed in rhinestones and orchid shaded velvet. The bridesmaids carried bouquets of pink roses and orchid shaded dahlias, fashioned cascade effect and showered in valley lilies.

Lovely Bride.
The bride was given in marriage by her father, S. Guthman. She wore a handsome wedding gown of white moire silk, fashioned with a close-fitting bodice and full skirt. A lace bertha trimmed the waist and this same beautiful lace was introduced on the scalloped hemline of the skirt. A cluster of orange blossoms was caught at the left of the bride's shoulder effect. The tulle bridal veil was held to her hair by a coronet of real lace, which is an heirloom in the bride's family. On either side of the coronet were tiny sprays of orange blossoms which extended around the back of the head. She carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and valley lilies.

Following the marriage service, Mr. and Mrs. Guthman, the bride's parents, entertained at a reception. Mrs. Guthman was gown in black chiffon veiled in black tulle. She wore a corsage bouquet of pink roses and valley lilies. Mrs. Isaac Held, of Richmond, Va., the groom's mother, wore a gown of black chiffon with her corsage bouquet was of yellow tea roses. Mrs. W. H. Schwarzchild, sister of the groom, wore a gown of black chiffon embroidered in pink roses. Her corsage bouquet was of pink roses.

During the evening Mr. Held and his bride left for a wedding trip to New Orleans. The bride's traveling costume was fashioned of jungle green crepe. She wore a top coat of tan colored kasha trimmed with a tan squirrel fur collar and cuffs. Her hat was a tan crepe with a tan trim with jungle green cross-grain ribbons.

Among the out-of-town guests attending the wedding were Mrs. Isaac Held, of Richmond, Va.; Mrs. W. H. Schwarzchild, of Richmond, Va.; Gerson Held, of Richmond, Va.; Mrs. Lee Strone, of Albany, Ga.; Mr. and Mrs. M. Schwarzman, of St. Louis, Mo.; Mrs. Schwartzman, Charleston, S. C.; Miss Sophie Kahn, of Montgomery, Ala.

MISS BUTT WEDS J. M. SLATON, JR.

Jackson, of New York, the ushers, were followed by the bridesmaids alternating with the groomsmen. The bridesmaids were Misses Anne Thomas, Pegram Williams, Louise Hankinson, Florence Richardson, Frances Tamm and Dorothy Sibley, of Memphis. The brides were period gowns made with tight-fitting bodices of yellow taffeta and very bouffant ruffled skirts of pink tulle. Eight yards in width around the ankle length skirt, and carried pink Killarney roses.

The groomsmen wore Slaton, Waldo, of Jacksonville; Walker, Inman, of Augusta; Jefferson Berry, of New York; Howard Smith, Smythe Gambrell and Vassar Woolley, of Atlanta. The maids of honor were Miss Constance Wright, wearing a gown of pink taffeta and tulle, and Miss Adeline Walker, of New York, gown in orchid taffeta and tulle. Their gowns made like the bridesmaids, with close-fitting bodices and wide ruffled tulle skirts, and they carried pink roses.

Radiant Bride.
The bride entered with her father, William McDonald Butt, and was met at the altar by the groom and his best men, his brothers, William F. Slaton and James J. Slaton, of Atlanta. She was radiantly lovely in her exquisite wedding gown of white satin back crepe heavily embroidered in rhinestones, silver and pearls. The gown was fashioned with a train of silk petals embroidered in pearls and rhinestones, falling over a skirt of silver lace. The round neck bodice was finished off with a deep bertha of silver lace. The long train hanging from the shoulders was of tulle bordered with silver lace and finished at the bottom with a deep crepe of the silver and sprays of orange blossoms. The wedding veil of tulle was caught simply to the hair with a wreath across the back of orange blossoms, and was showered with tiny sprays of the bridal flower. Her bouquet was of valley lilies and bride roses.

Reception Follows.
The bride party and several hundred friends were entertained at a brilliant reception at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Butt, on the Hill. Their residence, Rose Gables, and the next house, belonging to the bride's aunt, Mrs. Louis Butt, were thrown open, and in the bride's home a floor was given up to the display of hundreds of wedding gifts. The lower floor of the adjoining house was adorned with hundreds of white giant chrysanthemums mingled with smilax and palms in the dining and living room while in the sun parlor where punch was served, yellow chrysanthemums were used. The decorations and the quantities of gleaming candles formed a charming picture against the rich crimson of the velvet carpets and draperies. The bride and groom received congratulations in the living room and supper was later served in the dining room.

Bride's Table.
The long table where the bridal party were seated was adorned with a fillet lace cover over the rich mahogany and at each end the table was covered with white and wide satin ribbons. A silver bowl filled with white bride roses and valley lilies and fern adorned the center. Smaller vases held valley lilies and tall silver candelsticks holding unadorned white tapers. Silver dishes were filled with bonbons iced in tiny roses and lilies, and at each place a heart-shaped cake with the initials of the young couple held the end of a white satin ribbon in place on the other end of which was written the name of the guest.

At each girl's place was a satin box tied with a spray of orange blossom caught in the satin bow, containing a pearl and platinum watch bracelet, and the satin boxes for the men held the groom's gift, a silver chain and tag with key ring. A program of music was rendered by Mrs. Hilton's. The bride's traveling costume was of midnight blue crepe made with a Russian blouse. The neck, cuffs and bottom of the blouse were trimmed with bands of white felt and narrow blue and gold braid. Her sun hat was a close-fitting model of blue velvet, and her fur coat was of gray squirrel.

Wedding Journey.
Mr. and Mrs. Slaton left for New York where they will spend three weeks at the Biltmore, going from there to Chicago to visit relatives. On their return to Atlanta they will go to housekeeping in their residence on Huntington road, which was the gift of the groom to his lovely bride and which has been beautifully and completely furnished for the young couple.

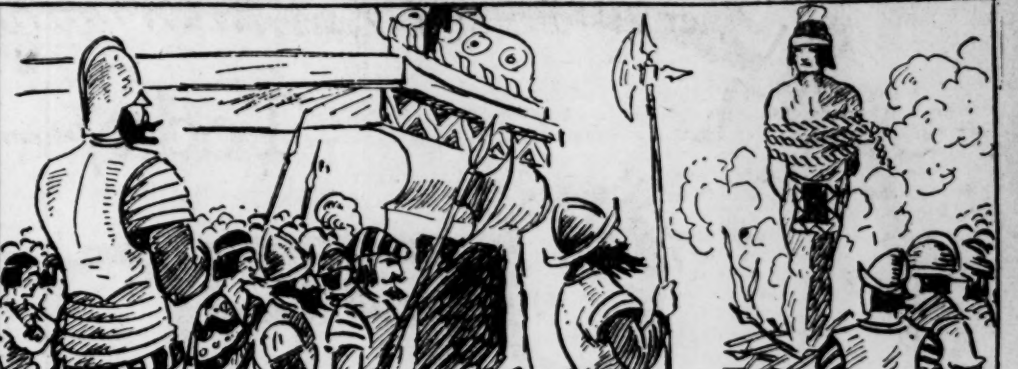

Among the out-of-town guests at the marriage were former Governor and Mrs. John M. Slaton, William Martin Slaton, Mrs. Kate Slaton Blanchard, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Grant, Miss Corrie Hoyt Brown, William F. Slaton, James J. Slaton, Slaton Waldo, Vassar Woolley, Smythe Gambrell, Howard Smith, Mrs. Martin Dunbar, Miss Theresa Newton, all of Atlanta; Mrs. Kate Hoke, of Athens; Mrs. William E. Jackson, of Columbia; Mrs. Jefferson Berry, Mr. and Mrs. James Egan, Miss Adeline Walker, Mrs. Floyd Corbin and Miss Minnie Walker, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. John Seibels, of Columbia; Miss Mary Ross Seibels, of Columbia, and others.

MEN WHO MADE THE WORLD

MEANTIME IN RESPONSE TO MONTEZUMA'S SUMMONS, QUAUHPOPOCA ARRIVED FROM THE COAST ACCOMPANIED BY A NUMBER OF AZTEC CHIEFS. MONTEZUMA RECEIVED HIM COLDLY. QUAUHPOPOCA DID NOT DENT HIS SHARE IN THE ASSASSINATION OF THE FOUR SPANIARDS, NOR DID HE SEEK TO SHELTER HIMSELF BEHIND THE ROYAL AUTHORITY OF MONTEZUMA UNTIL THE SPANIARDS HAD PRONOUNCED SENTENCE OF DEATH ON HIM AND HIS FOLLOWERS. THEN QUAUHPOPOCA Laid ALL THE BLAME ON MONTEZUMA. TO CROWN THE WHOLE OF THESE EXTRAORDINARY PROCEEDINGS, CORTEZ ENTERED MONTEZUMA'S APARTMENT ATTENDED BY A SOLDIER BEARING FETTERS. STERNLY ADDRESSING MONTEZUMA, HE CHARGED HIM WITH BEING THE ORIGINAL CONTRIVER OF THE VIOLENCE OFFERED THE FOUR SPANIARDS AND AS PROOF, HE CITED THE STATEMENTS OF QUAUHPOPOCA AND HIS LIEUTENANTS. THEN HE ADDED THAT SUCH A CRIME MERITED DEATH IN A SUBJECT, AND EVEN A SOVEREIGN MUST UNDERGO SOME PUNISHMENT. HAVING SAID THIS HE ORDERED THE SOLDIER TO FETTER MONTEZUMA'S ANKLES. MONTEZUMA WAS SPEECHLESS UNDER THIS LAST INSULT. HE FELT THAT HE WAS NO LONGER A KING. THIS HUMILIATION OF SPIRIT WAS WHAT CORTEZ WANTED TO PRODUCE.

Fernando Cortez

QUAUHPOPOCA AND HIS FOLLOWERS WERE CONDEMNED TO BE BURNED ALIVE BEFORE THE PALACE. CRAFTILY CORTEZ SECURED THE CONSENT OF MONTEZUMA TO HAVE THE FUNERAL PILES MADE OF HEAPS OF ARMS, JAVELINS AND OTHER WEAPONS TAKEN FROM THE ARSENALS. BY THIS MOVE HE HOPED TO LARGELY DISARM THE AZTECS. THE VAST THROGHS OF AZTECS GAZED AT THE PREPARATIONS FOR THE EXECUTION IN SILENT WONDER, BELIEVING THAT THE DEATH SENTENCE WAS THAT OF THEIR EMPEROR. THE AZTEC LORD, QUAUHPOPOCA, AND HIS COMPANIONS WERE NOW LED FORWARD AND BOUND HAND AND FOOT TO STAKES. IT IS TO THEIR EVERLASTING CREDIT THAT THEY SUBMITTED WITHOUT A SINGLE CRY OR COMPLAINT OVER THEIR DREADFUL FATE. WHEN QUAUHPOPOCA'S TURN CAME, AND THE BUNDLES OF BLAZING ARROWS AND JAVELINS AROUND HIS FEET WERE FIRED, HE GAZED CONTEMPTUOUSLY AT HIS WHITE ENEMIES AND MAINTAINED A HAUGHTY SILENCE TO THE END. IT WAS TO THE GLORY OF THE AZTECS, THAT IN THIS TERRIBLE EXTREMITY THEY SHOWED HOW THE SPIRIT OF BRAVE MEN MAY TRIUMPH OVER TORTURE AND THE AGONIES OF A HORRIBLE DEATH.

Halloween Ball At Fort McPherson Is Brilliant Event

Inaugurating a series of brilliant balls that will celebrate the Halloween season was the one given Wednesday evening in the Officers' club at Fort McPherson, the affair assembling a large number of the military contingent stationed in Atlanta. Elaborate decorations, suggestive of Halloween, transformed the ballroom into a picturesque harvest scene. Myriads of autumn leaves combined with huge yellow pumpkins adorned the side walls. Stacks of cornstalks were arranged throughout the room and also formed a screen for the orchestra that played for the dancing. The happy feature of the evening was the favor dance in which golden-colored confetti was showered and Halloween souvenirs given the guests. At 11 o'clock supper was served, which consisted of many dishes appropriate of Halloween. Preceding the dance a number of informal dinner parties were given on the post at the various officers' quarters. Among those who entertained at dinner was Major and Mrs. James Magee. Their guests included Major General and Mrs. John Hagood, Brigadier General and Mrs. Joseph D. Leitch, Colonel and Mrs. Walter Krueger, Colonel Henry C. Merriam, Mrs. H. C. Merriam, Major and Mrs. Richard Taylor, Major Kuegley, Captain and Mrs. David Barnett, Captain and Mrs. Furman Hardee, Chaplain and Mrs. John Hall, Major and Mrs. Nelson A. ## Halloween Features For Saturday Matinee.

Harding, prologue chairman, have made pleasing Halloween plans to aid Atlanta children in celebrating Halloween. "Once a year," says Mrs. Wing, "we have this kind of a picture for the kiddies at Halloween time, and since it comes in the middle of the day, it seems to leave no harmful impressions." Mrs. Harding, prolog chairman, has secured an atmospheric prolog, in which Miss Virginia, who arrives on time, her dancing pupils, which will consist of witches, ghosts and mysteries. ## TWO HOMES MADE HAPPY

By Women Who Used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I think it is the most wonderful medicine I ever tried." Is the statement made by Mrs. Goldie Shoup of May View, Illinois. She declares that after taking the Compound she is in better health than before.

Mrs. J. Storms of 29 Lane Street, Paterson, N. J., writes: "I can not speak too highly of your medicine and I recommend it to all my friends."

These statements were taken from two enthusiastic letters which tell of the help that has been received from using the Vegetable Compound. Both Mrs. Shoup and Mrs. Storms were in a run-down condition which caused them much unhappiness. When women are suffering from lack of strength and from weakness their own life and that of their family is affected. When they feel well and strong and are able to do their household work easily, happy homes are the result.

Are you on the Sunlit Road to Better Health?

W. S. Witham Gives $1,000 To Oglethorpe Loan Fund

Announcement of a gift of $1,000 by W. S. Witham to the Student Loan fund for girls at Oglethorpe university featured the autumn meeting of the Woman's board of Oglethorpe Wednesday afternoon. The gift, donated through the Woman's board because the money is to be used solely to aid young girls in acquiring an education, supplements a previous gift made by Mr. Witham to the university to form the nucleus of the Jean Witham Student Loan fund for girls.

The meeting, which was held in the recently completed auditorium of the Lupton building, was the first general meeting of the year for the entire board. It was well attended, a number of new members being among those present. These were most cordially greeted as the autumn meeting always is in the nature of a welcome to the newly elected members.

Another event of interest at the meeting was the presentation to the board of Nutter Campbell, captain of the football team that inaugurated the season so auspiciously for Oglethorpe by winning the initial game from Tech. The board expressed much pride in the prowess of the team. As is customary at the October meeting each year, the heads of the various student activities reported to the board on the plans for the university work of the year. Lovelace Ginn, president of the student's organization, spoke first and he was followed by John L. Lee, director of the orchestra. The orchestra this year is exceptionally good and the boys are very ambitious to improve it even more. Duke Terrell told about the university publications, the annual and The Petrel. Oglethorpe has the distinction of of having installed the first university press in the south and the college publications are printed on the university presses. Harry Banister discussed the plans of the debating club and Fred Stewart told of the work of the Players club which tries out the original plays written by students, giving one each month in the university auditorium and one a year in a down town theater. Football activities were outlined by Nutter Campbell, captain of the team, and Mr. Anderson, faculty director of football.

Miss Dorothy Horton, president of the girls' organization, told of student life among the girls and Miss Ione Thompson, captain of the basketball team, told of the athletic program for the girls.

Dr. Jacobs spoke briefly expressing his pleasure at having the women meet at the university, and telling of the splendid prospects of the university for a year of exceptional work and progress.

Mrs. E. Rivers, president of the board, expressed her pleasure at the interest shown by the women and spoke briefly of what the board hopes to achieve this year.

After the meeting tea was served and a very pleasant social hour gave the old members opportunity to meet and know the new ones as well as to exchange greetings with one another.

Miss Clanton Weds Dr. Gainey At St. Mark's Church

The marriage of Miss Elizabeth Clanton and Dr. Jewel Guy Gainey, of Hosford, Fla., was solemnized Wednesday at 5:30 o'clock at the St. Mark Methodist church in the presence of a large and representative assembly of friends and relatives. The ceremony was performed by Dr. William F. Quillian, president of Wesleyan college. A lovely program of organ music was rendered by Miss Eda Bartholomew and Mrs. Rolly Eakin sang two beautiful numbers.

The church was handsomely decorated, the chancel and front of the church banked in palms in a pyramid effect. The green back ground was studded with four seven-pointed candelabra alternating with floor vases of ascension lilies and white chrysanthemums. The aisle decorations were pink asters and chrysanthemums, marking the pews for the family. A delicate tracery of smilax on the side walls in the church completed the decorations.

Bridal Party.

The ushers were Ralph G. Newton, Errett Van Hook, James Dewey Peters, and Brian Merry. They entered first, followed by the junior bridesmaids, Virginia Merry and Joyce Smith. Their gowns were fashioned of pink and blue georgette trimmed with ruffles and two-tone ribbons. Their flowers were French nosegays of pink Columbia roses showed in blue ageratum.

Following the junior bridesmaids were the matrons of honor, Mrs. Ralph G. Newton and Mrs. Errett Van Hook, in bouffant taffeta models, fashioned alike, flower and silver ribbon forming the trimming. Mrs. Newton's gown was pink and Mrs. Van Hook's blue. Their flowers were sheath bouquets of pink Columbia roses showed in violets.

Miss Ethel Pharr, maid of honor, entered next, wearing a gown of white taffeta, with tight fitting bodice and a bouffant skirt.

The applied rose and blue flowers, silver chantilly lace drop to the skirt and pastel ribbons added the touch of color and trimming. Her bouquet was of pink roses, showered with violets and valley lilies.

Little Miss Ruth Cooper was the dainty flower girl wearing green georgette trimmed in taffeta ruffles and French flowers. She carried a miniature French nosegay bouquet of pink flowers.

Lovely Bride.

The bride entered with her father, Turner Walton Clanton, by whom she was given in marriage. They were joined at the altar by the room and his best man, Walter Archer. The bride was strikingly lovely in her wedding gown of heavy white satin fashioned with tight fitting bodice and slightly bouffant skirt. The skirt had a front panel of exquisite lace, and the entire costume was elaborately embroidered in pearls in a rose design. The train, embroidered in the same design, was lined with delicate flesh satin. From the becoming head-dress of duchesse and rosepoint tulle and orange blossoms, the flesh tulle veil fell the length of the train. Her flowers were orchids and valley lilies.

Mrs. Turner Walton Clanton, the bride's mother, wore a becoming model of flesh georgette, beaded in pearls and crystal. Her shoulder bouquet was orchids and valley lilies. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Clanton entertained the members of the wedding party, the relatives, and out-of-town guests at an informal reception at their home on Ninth street. The house was attractively decorated in southern smilax, fern, and fall flowers in the yellow shades.

Fashions Sketched by Kay

Sunday, if you remember, I mentioned that geometrical tuckings were very new, and were to be found on a number of smart frocks and coats. So today I have sketched for you a most attractive coat from Regenstein's, which employs tuckings in a very clever fashion. It is fashioned of kashmere superba in chamois tan, one of the newer fabrics in a most delightful color, and is trimmed with deep, full collar and cuffs of badger. Youthful and very charming, I am sure it will please you because, as I have mentioned before, the straight line coat is first in the mode.

New York, October 27.—(By the Associated Press.)—Responding to the publication of unusually favorable quarterly earnings statements by the United States Steel and General Motors corporations, and the raising of the annual dividend on the common stock of the Pennsylvania railroad from 6 to 7 per cent, stock prices staged an impressive rally in today's market. Closing quotations, which were around the day's high levels, disclosed a long list of net gains ranging from 1 to 4 points, with a few even larger.

Among the many industries to show net gains of 3 points or more were American Brake Shoe & Foundry, American Can, Coca-Cola, DuPont, Ingersoll Rand, Loew's, Pillsbury, Sheffield Steel and U. S. Cast Iron Pipe. Several weak spots were scattered throughout the list also. Worth noting were a decline of 1 point in the price of Southern Dairies, a 1-point drop in the price of American Lumber, and a 1-point drop in the price of International Paper. The action of the market took many traders by surprise, contrary to expectations, the opening was only moderately strong. This encouraged some short selling, which carried prices down a point or more from their highs. Strong banking support then made its appearance, setting in motion a sharp rally which continued through the close.

MERCHANT MARINE HEARING TODAY

Atlanta will have a part in deciding one of the most important questions before the next session of congress, the question of private or government ownership of an American merchant marine. This morning at 10 o'clock representatives of the United States shipping board will begin a public hearing on the question at the Chamber of Commerce building.

Meetings have been held throughout the country in an attempt to get an opinion of shippers, producers and manufacturers on this question. The Atlanta hearing will be in charge of Admiral William S. Benson, former chairman of the board; John C. Nichols, former chairman of the board; and ADMIRAL WILLIAM S. BENSON, olson, legislative secretary; J. A. Phelan, expert statistician, and E. P. Elders, secretary to Admiral Benson. Mr. Phelan arrived in Atlanta Wednesday to make plans for the meeting and to obtain a preview of the feeling in Atlanta of the situation. He declared that one of the biggest efforts of members of the commission is to obtain opinions from all classes of people.

All classes invited.

"Atlanta and Georgia are directly affected by what disposition is finally made by congress," Mr. Phelan said, "and we are very desirous of a representative gathering at the hearing. Many manufacturers and producers in the inland do not take the proper interest in the question but it will affect them directly.

"It will mean practically business suicide for American producers to be left without means of transporting our goods to foreign countries. There is not a single British ship that touches American shores today and unless we provide some means to carry our goods from this country the United States will find itself in the position of Argentina, where a big surplus of wheat will be left this year, due to no facilities for export.

"One of the greatest problems of the commission will be to satisfactorily make provisions for an American merchant marine that will suit the people. Sentiment is strongly in its favor but sentiment alone favors private ownership without subsidy, and with the present high cost of ship building private ship owners cannot hope to compete with foreign shippers.

Marine Is Necessary. "It is hoped that farmers, manufacturers, bankers and business men of the country are becoming aroused to the fact that a merchant marine is necessary to America if it is to maintain its position in world commerce since without ships of its own America will be at the mercy of those nations which have ships to get their own goods to foreign markets."

Members of the commission in Atlanta also are anxious to get other suggestions from business men in regard to the operation of a merchant marine. Any data that may be pertinent to the issue will be welcomed, Mr. Phelan said.

The Atlanta meeting will be the last to be held with the exception of one in Birmingham. Later all members of the commission will meet in Washington and will submit data which has been gathered from visits to all parts of the country and after consideration reports will frame its report to congress.

"Comprehensive and concrete plans for building up and maintaining an adequate merchant marine for commerce and national security" were asked in resolutions passed by the senate last June, and presented by Senator Jones, of Washington.

ADMIRAL TO SPEND SEVERAL DAYS HERE. Admiral W. S. Benson, who is to preside as a commissioner of the United States shipping board at the regional hearing here, will arrive in Atlanta this morning.

Due to illness of E. C. Plummer, who with Admiral Benson represents the Atlantic coast on the shipping board, Admiral Benson will act as the sole presiding officer, and will be assisted at the hearing by a representative member of Atlanta's business element.

Georgia is the birthplace of Admiral Benson, his forebears for generations being among the leading people of the state and his mother the first woman to receive a college degree in the United States granted by a Georgia university, after the close of the business session he will spend some time in the city, meeting old associates, and will then go to Macon for a short rest, the first vacation he has had since he left Macon in 1872 to enter the Annapolis academy, it is said.

"I expect to find out in Atlanta," Admiral Benson said, "just what the progressive element has to say about an American marine. Due to Georgia's position in an attempt to get an opinion of shippers, producers and manufacturers on this question. The Atlanta hearing will be in charge of Admiral William S. Benson, former chairman of the board; John C. Nichols, former chairman of the board; and

WINE GRAFT TRIAL OPENS IN CHICAGO

Chicago, October 27.—(AP)—"Inside" and "outside" men of the alleged conspiracy to violate the prohibition law through illegal withdrawal of more than 1,000,000 gallons of sacramental wine told their stories of "arrangements" and alleged grafting at the federal court trial today.

Major Percy Owen, former Illinois prohibition director, and Lowell B. Mason, state senator.

Mason, who is seeking reelection next week as a dr., was involved in the opening statement yesterday of Leo Klein, assistant, United States district attorney, as a "fixer" and "go-between," but his name did not figure in today's testimony.

The "inside man," Harry Schlauf, having Owen housekeeper, indicted with Major Owen, Mason and five others, said the major's first bit of grafting in the wine conspiracy was a $50 bill he slipped into Owen's glove.

The "outside" man, Louis Abelson, also indicted, was arrested. He testified that Schlauf brought him a $10,000 bribe in a tobacco can with the statement: "That's from the major; if you need any more, I'll get it." The liberty bond was to be posted as a bond.

The testimony of Schlauf and Abelson coincided virtually throughout and was a narrative of an agreement between themselves upon a scheme for having Owen keep the "reliable" prohibition agents to inspect sacramental wine permits and of fixing graft of $300 for release permits for 2,000 gallons of wine with certain divisions of the spoils.

M'DERMOTT SILENT ON MELLETT KILLING

Canton, Ohio, October 27.—(AP)—From all that can be learned from Stark county authorities, the bargain made by Mellekt and M'Dermott to kill Eugene M'Dermott, "keyman" in the Mellekt murder case, by which he will tell all he knows and get a degree of immunity in exchange.

Slater and Prosecutor C. B. McIntosh have declared that they will make public announcement as soon as they have obtained "Pat's" story. Today they interviewed him in the county courthouse for one hour and a half, and left with the flat statement: "We have absolutely nothing to give out."

M'Dermott's testimony is sought by the authorities in completing its case against the indicted trio, M'Dermott, Louis Mazer and Ben Rudner, charged with having slain the Canton publisher, Don R. Mellekt, on July 16.

It grows constantly in importance as a traffic artery; most owners of West Peachtree frontage are content to hold, knowing that it will increase in value. There are not many parcels offered for sale from Baker street, even as far out as the Biltmore hotel, at figures under $1,000 a front foot. We have one parcel in the vicinity of Baltimore Block 100 feet frontage, which we can sell at $700 a foot. This parcel is so manifestly under the general market that it should be bought by some investor for profit-making.
